Annual Publication of

Halifax County High School

South Boston, Virginia

*D*edication

We have much to thank you for: friendship, advice, and leadership, whether in school or in extra-curricula activities.

In dedicating this, the 1962 HALISCOPE, to you, Mrs. Dorothy Crews, we hope to repay part of the time you have spent on the three major dramatic productions of the school year: the Fall Production, the Spring Production, and the One-Act Play Festival. You have been an inspiring director as well as a dedicated teacher.

Thank you, for working with the debate team and the speakers in the forensic meet. Sponsoring the hams in the Thespian Troup must not have been easy, but you did it.

You have made us feel like stars on Broadway even while letting us know, quite vividly, what we did wrong and how you wanted it done correctly.

English does not seem quite so dull when you teach it. The literature is not quite so moth-eaten nor is the grammar so unchanging as it once was.

For your dedicated service we of Halifax County High School say, "Thank you, indeed!"

Mrs. Dorothy Crews receives a facsimile of the annual which is dedicated to her, from Randy McDowell, HALISCOPE editor-in-chief. It was presented on Class Night.

Foreword

As we turn the pages of this book, so time continually turns the years of our lives.

This annual is symbolic of our youth, a time of freshness and vigor. Life seems simple and life seems sweet during these years. But this book of youth must end and a volume of maturity begin. Then we will only be able to turn back to the memories of those hours, "hours of splendor in the grass, of glory in the flower" and "grieve not, rather find strength in what remains behind."

Then Sing . . . a

Joyous Song! And Let the Young . . .

The Vocational-Agriculture Department

The purpose of the Vo-ag. Department is to prepare students for agricultural or agricultural related jobs after graduation. Therefore, the subject matter presented in the classroom is extremely practical.

Vocational Agriculture classes 9 and 10 meet two periods daily: one is spent in the classroom, and the other in the Vo-ag. shop. During the period in the shop the students learn how to handle power tools such as electric welders, table saws, and jointers. The students are taught the basic fundamentals and principles of raising livestock, crops, and other jobs relating to agriculture. These principles are used in the specialization of Vo-ag. classes 11 and 12, which meet one period daily.

The students also learn such things as electrical wiring, landscaping, fencing, and a host of others.

During the latter part of the year the classes began the study of judging such things as dairy animals, beef cattle, crops, poultry and farm mechanics. The top students in these classes will go to VPI this summer to the annual F.F.A. Rally, but even those who don't make the judging teams will gain valuable experience.

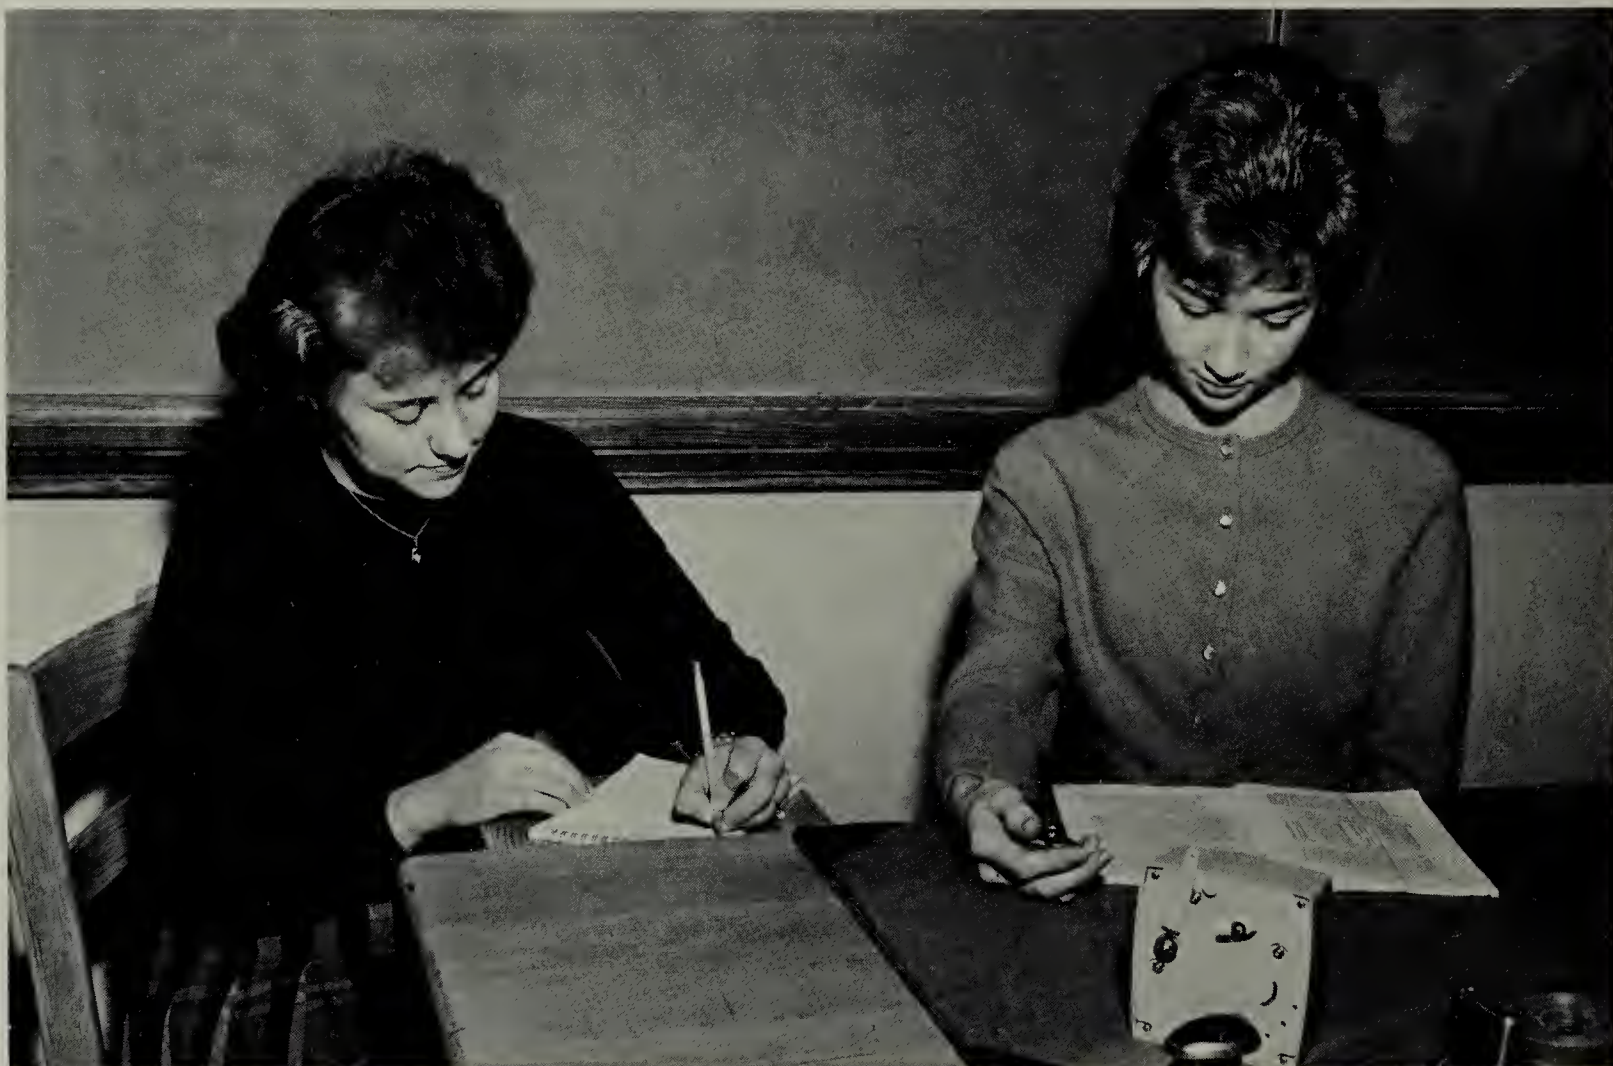

Eugene Satterfield, Douglas Moore, and Lindy Puryear construct a self-hog feeder under the supervision of Mr. Currie Lacks.

Mr. E. D. Patterson uses visual aids to make a point in one of his agriculture classes.

Practical experience and training for clerical and secretarial work after graduation are the two valuable assets which students in business education courses receive by their academic work.

In addition, the girls in office practice and shorthand classes render much service to their school. The advanced typists work for the STAR and the HALISCOPE as well as for the other school departments while the advanced shorthand students take dictation from Mr. Swanson and other faculty members.

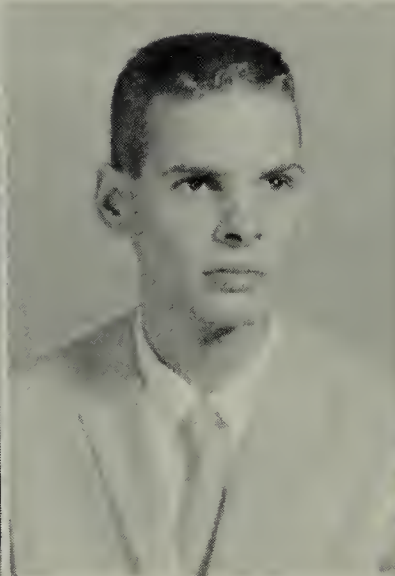

The standard bookkeeping course, offered only to seniors, is preceded by a general record keeping course which offers the students training for general clerks, bookkeeping procedures for small businesses, and bookkeeping practices for personal use.

The Business Department also offered night classes in typing for the adults of the county and had so many people to take advantage of this opportunity that the group had to be divided into two classes. This group was almost double the number enrolled in a similar class offered last year.

Painting and sculpture, the art courses offered at Halifax County High School, are divided into many interesting divisions.

The student artists this year had the opportunity to develop many skills in oil painting, still-life painting, pen and ink drawing, clay sculpture, tooth pick sculpture, straw sculpture, collages, mosaics, and charcoal drawings. Many of these were displayed to the student body in the showcase in the Art Department.

Art was offered to all grades, but eighth graders were allowed to take it for a half year. The other students were required to study for a year to receive their art credit.

The Music Department at Halifax County High was divided into two sections for this year.

The choral division of the department was divided into three different units. The Concert Choir and the mixed Glee Club were the advanced groups. Three eighth grade choral classes spent time in rehearsals and performed for the Junior National Honor Society inductions.

The band was divided into three units. The Senior Concert Band performed at many functions and learned mechanics of marching. The Beginners' Band and the Cadet Band learned the fundamentals of music and marching.

For the first time, the music department staged two assemblies for the student body to create more interest in this department.

"Education for homemaking should have the same recognition as training for other occupations and vocations, as homemaking is one pursuit every individual will experience to some degree," Miss Erna Shotwell, head of the Home Economics Department said.

The Home Economics Department at Halifax County High School offers degrees of concentration on domestic industries: cooking, sewing, selecting and caring for clothing; repairing electrical equipment; budgeting finances; and preserving health.

The purpose of home economics training is concerned with the application of knowledge of homemaking and family living, and with the progress of individuals as family members.

With an enrollment of over 500 students, the Home Economics Department offers courses to students in grades eight through twelve. Homemaking is not required in any grade, but four years of study in the field are offered. Family living, a half-year class for eleventh and twelfth grade boys and girls, emphasizes methods for solving domestic problems and improving relations between family members.

Homemaking students serve the school in many ways outside the classroom. They serve at special meetings, banquets, and teas, make costumes for plays, and work as nurses aides in the hospital.

The H.C.H.S. home economics exhibit at the county fair featured local women and girls who are either trained home economists or who plan to be.

Foreign Language

Spoken Spanish more and more occupies a place in the H.C.H.S. curriculum. Here Lavonia Dixon and Kenny Murray practice a dialogue.

Composing the Foreign Language Department at H.C.H.S. are French, Latin, and Spanish. Each one encourages interest and enthusiasm in the respective countries and in the daily use of words pertaining to the language.

The French Club is composed of every member of the French Department. Highlighting the year's work is French Week in May. Also in the spring a French newspaper was edited by French students.

From the French Club come the members for the French Honor Society. French grades, plus interest, enthusiasm, character, and attitude aid the teacher in selecting the members.

To create interest in the language from fun, pleasure, and outside work, thus creating an awareness in everyday life, is the purpose of the Latin Club. Participation in the Latin Tournament at George Washington High School was one of the big events of the Latin Club's year. Also four entries were made by Latin students in the Latin essay contest.

A float entered in the Christmas parade by the Spanish Club won first prize. This plus a club dance, where two pinatas were broken, made up a large part of the Spanish year. A medal is given to the senior with the highest two-year average in Spanish.

During the past year there were only a few changes in the English Department.

Most of the reforms came about in journalism classes. A straight journalism class, 12J, was revived after being dropped from the curriculum two years earlier.

To give students time to gain more experience in journalism while in high school, 10J, and 11J similar classes now write most of the stories in the STAR.

Teachers continued to stress reading in the English classes. To improve vocabulary, comprehension, and rate of reading, the Science Research Association Reading Lab was used in selected classes.

One section of the English Department, a class in the art of speaking, disappeared from the curriculum due to a lack of student interest. Plans are in the making to put it back in next year.

The Industrial Arts Department offers a large store of knowledge and valuable experience. In the eighth grade, students study free-hand drawing, metal work, electricity, and hand-woodworking.

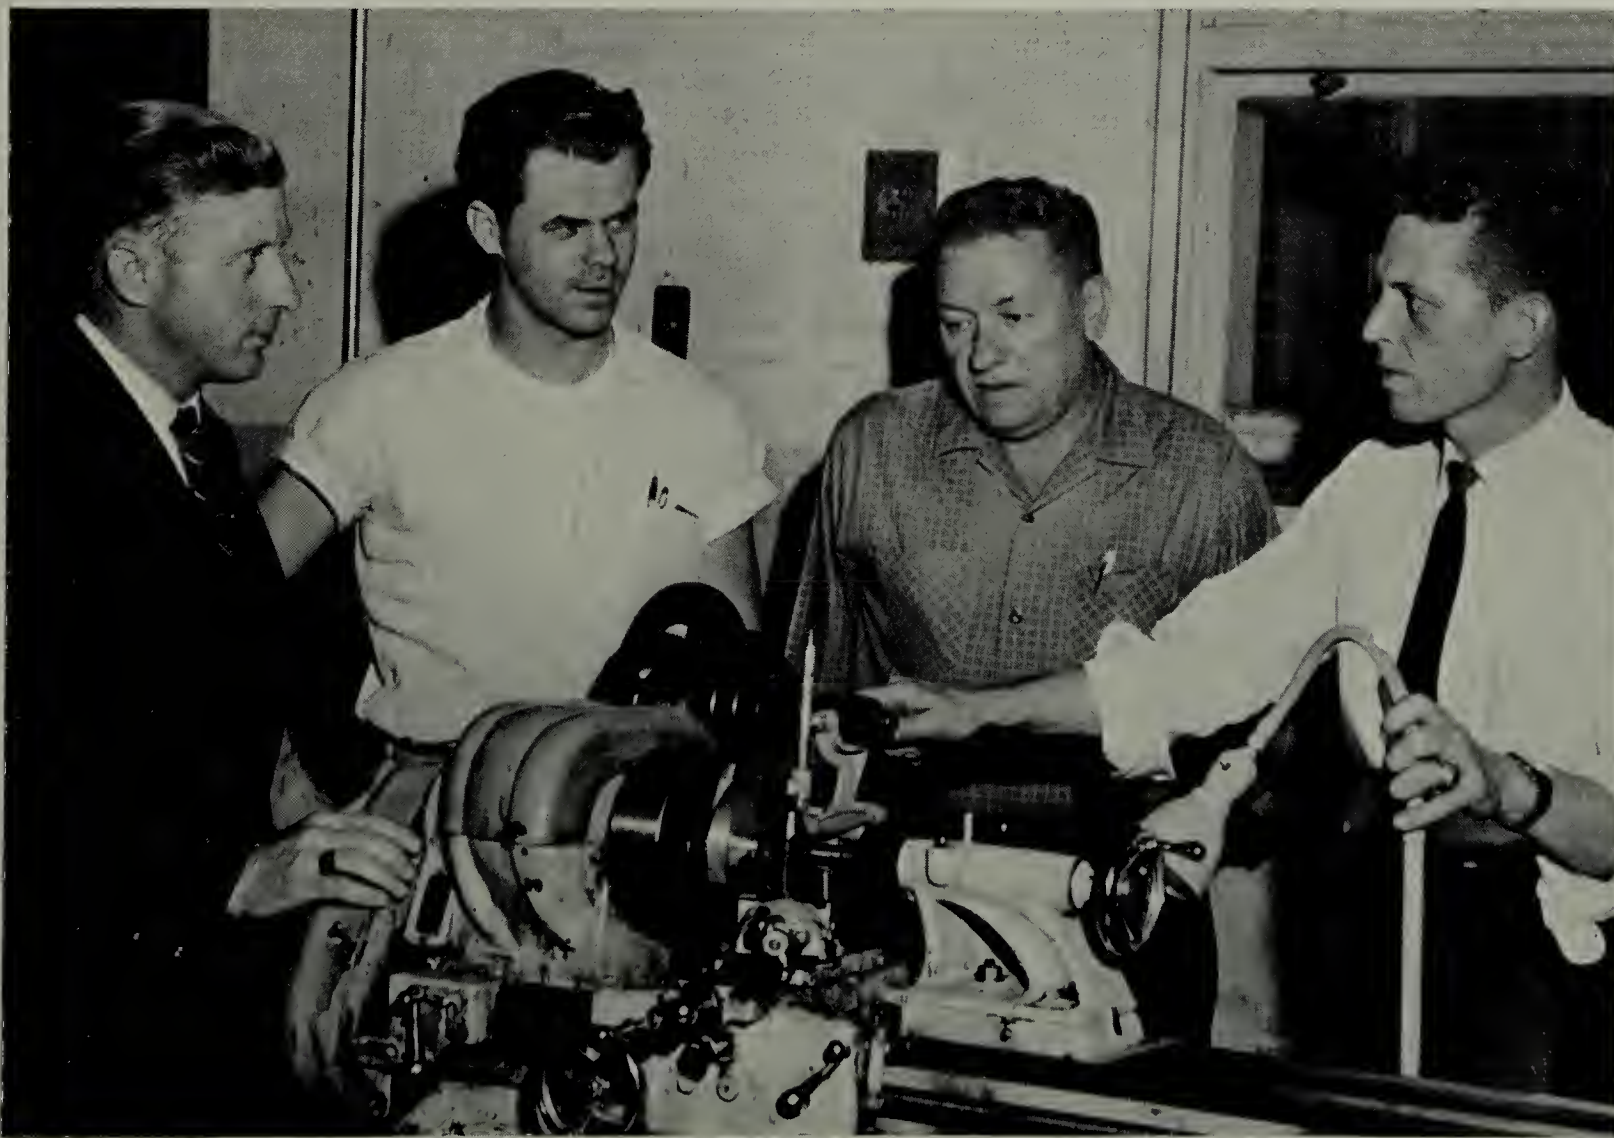

Drawing, machine-woodworking, and machine metal work are fields covered in the full-year ninth grade course. The full-year tenth grade course, which is the most advanced, offers machine-woodworking, and general and machine metal work.

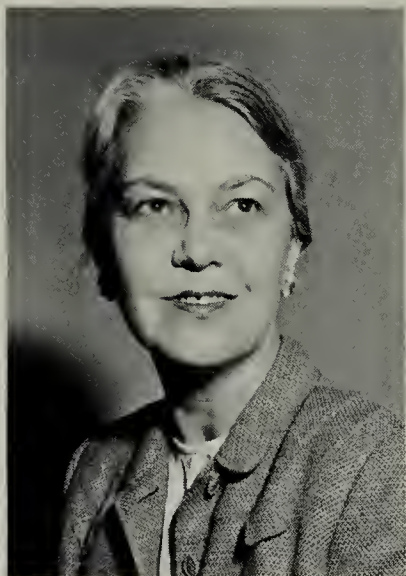

New equipment, including a metal-working lathe and a milling machine, have been added this year offering even more valuable knowledge to be found in H.C.H.S.'s up-to-date industrial arts shop.

Also included in the Industrial Arts Department is a course in mechanical drawing. This tenth grade course teaches students to transfer their ideas onto paper in an orderly arrangement. Planning, sketching, designing, and preparing working plans are the basic fundamentals of mechanical drawing.

Fractions, equations, and logarithms were among the scope of classwork students found in math classes this year. General math, Algebra I and II, plane geometry, solid geometry, trigonometry, business math, and, for the first time, Algebra III were among the classes students attended.

To create interest among students and to give students a chance to pursue math ideas used in every day life, were the purposes of having a Math Week this year. During Math Week a display of math from all the classes were displayed in the lobby. Solid geometry and trigonometry students were required to construct geometric figures and to make math posters used in the display.

All math teachers engaged in an in-service class led and supervised monthly by the state math supervisor. The purpose of the class was to familiarize the teachers with the newer math content.

Also in solid and trigonometry classes a concentrated emphasis was placed on the use of the library. This work included reading topics from books on higher mathematics and writing summaries on them. This activity was established to help the student broaden his knowledge of the subject.

"Gymarama"

The Physical Education Department, which is required for all students in grades eight, nine, and ten, taught the students the history, fundamentals, and basic steps of thirteen different sports.

Due to the shortage of classroom space, the practice of teaching health had to be terminated in all classes except the ninth grade. Even though the students were unable to participate in classroom work, the 500 boys and 600 girls enrolled did participate in many different sports. For example, the boys played football, soccer, volleyball, softball, basketball, tumbling and badminton. The department also gave some instruction in bowling.

The Physical Education Department also offered a driver's training course to those students who had a learner's license and who had completed the classroom course of driver's education. In the behind-the-wheel driving course, a fee of $3.00 was charged, and the boys usually received a ten per cent deduction on their automobile insurance.

Two Outstanding Science Students and Teacher

As in previous years, the aim of the Science Department was the advancement of the understanding of general science, biology, chemistry, and physics. To reach this goal more effectively, the department added a second year of biology for juniors and seniors.

Sizemore Appliance Company of South Boston donated a television to the physics department in hopes that it would be useful in demonstrating certain classes taught on the subject from WUNC, an educational T-V station in Chapel Hill, N. C.

Two students, Robert Bagwell and Nat Wooding, were chosen as outstanding science students and sent by VEPCO with Mrs. Bernice Brinkley to Chicago as representative to the National Youth Conference on the Atom. They also visited the site of the nuclear reactor at Dresden that provides electricity for Chicagoland and Argonne National Laboratory.

Television Taught

"To prepare students to choose wisely both today and tomorrow is the main purpose of the Social Studies Department," said Mrs. Mary McLaughlin, chairman of the department.

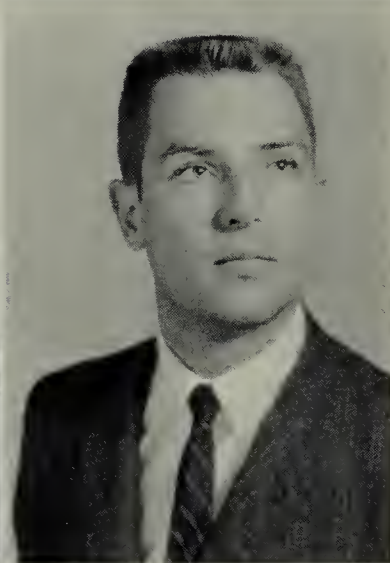

In the 1961-62 school year courses in United States history, United States government, economics, geography, and world history were taught. Students achieved greater excellence in these subjects through television instruction, bulletin board displays, quiz programs, and educational trips.

For the first time, two social studies classes were taught by the use of television. United States history and world history students took notes for half an hour from the television teacher, while the remainder of the period was dedicated to discussion.

Carried over from the previous year was a current events quiz show in which a panel of four students faced a civic club panel. Toward the end of the year the radio program was changed, however, as the H.C.H.S. team faced other area high schools.

A bulletin board contest was another activity of the Social Studies Department in 1961-62. Every two weeks bulletin boards of the social studies classes were judged, and the winner received a trophy made by the Industrial Arts Department.

Trips to places of historical interest enabled United States and World History students to see a realistic picture of the history which they were studying.

For girls interested in becoming nurses, the school and community hospital offer a seventeen month course in Practical Nursing, including theoretical work at the high school and supervised practice at the hospital.

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, the student is awarded a diploma and pin by the Halifax County School Board and the Board of Trustees of the Halifax Community Hospital.

Students interested in business training may join either the Distributive Education Club, which trains students for employment in distributive occupations, or the Diversified Occupations Club, dealing with more specialized jobs.

The D. E. Club this year operated the school store and the Lost and Found Department and also conducted a survey of business establishments in Halifax and South Boston for the Community Drive.

Although somewhat similar to D. E., the D. O. Club is a separate organization participating in separate activities and consisting of outstanding members also. Among them are O'Neill Womack, who won first place in the state essay contest, and Nancy Cole, the first girl from H.C.H.S. to become state D. O. secretary.

Halifax County High School Students.

Returning Students of the Lower Classes are Swiftly Drawn into School's Life

Sophomores Virgie Mae Duffer, Jimmy Hinton, Sharon Palmer, and Tommy Fisher prepare for final exams.

The Junior Class

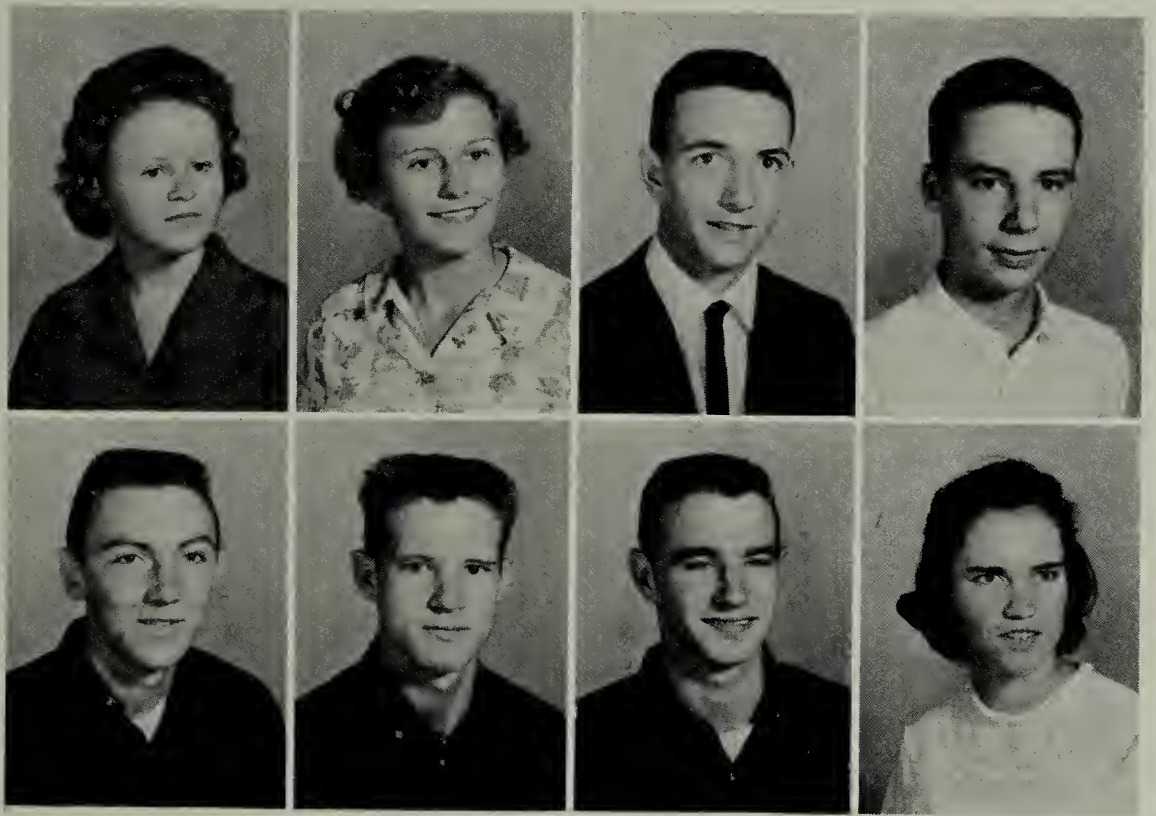

Juniors, while looking to the future, are very much involved in school activities. Through work and study in the classroom and active participation in the S. C. A., school publications and various clubs, eleventh graders prepare for the days after graduation. For the first time members of this class are eligible for membership in the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll.

Although long hours were spent in preparation for the future, the class of 1963 also devoted much time to raising funds for that most important social event, the Junior-Senior Prom. After sponsoring a dance following a football game, the juniors turned to selling candy as a source of profit. "Faculty Fallout," an assembly depicting life at H. C. H. S. in 1981, and a coat check during basketball games provided other sources of income. The assembly featured a surprise birthday party for H. C. H. S.'s 100 year old principal, Mr. Swanson, attended by various teachers and students in their old age. Also included were a séance in which guests communicated with the spirits of teachers. A huge birthday cake, complete with Marshall Covington jumping out of it, climaxed the assembly.

At Junior-Senior, on the evening of May 4, members of the Junior Class felt compensated for all their labor. A large gate led seniors, juniors, and their dates into a palace garden where Cinderella wept, comforted by her fairy godmother. Walls of silver, crystal chandeliers, and two rows of white columns transformed the gym into a palace ballroom. On the stage was a pumpkin coach and a scene of the palace and surrounding village. While guests whirled to the music of the V. P. I. Collegiates, an air of simple elegance reigned. At midnight the magic spell was broken; but in the minds of the juniors, memories of the 1961-62 school year would live forever.

Campaign signs appeared everywhere in great profusion during the S. C. A. elections.

Mrs. Vernie Bohannon entertains as "Moms Mabley" at the Junior Class assembly.

Marshall Covington surprises all when he pops out of Mr. Swanson's birthday cake at the Junior Class assembly.

Accelerated Pupils Took History on T V

Nell Lacy helps to arrange the lobby display made by the U. S. history T.V. class members during their study of the Civil War.

That the sophomore year is the midpoint in their high school career was one of the prime interests of its members. During this year, students show their real qualities and abilities since they are well into their academic program.

These tenth graders have begun to feel a closeness with their schoolmates and by this time are able to shoulder many of the important responsibilities of the school as well as the class.

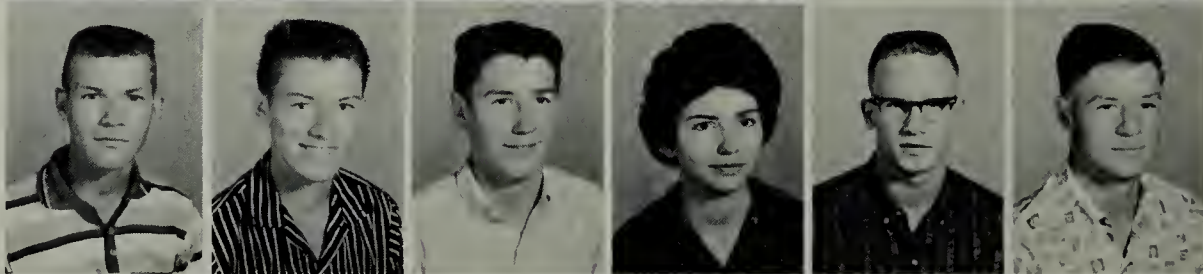

Many participated in the assembly, presented in the school gym February 14, which was a satire on a radio program broadcast. Set in an informal atmosphere, the radio program "Fraidy Cat" was transmitted to the audience at Halifax County High school, while in the background, other performers produced the sound effects and awaited their cues. The proceeds will help the Sophomore Class in financing the Junior-Senior Prom in the coming year.

Supporting the twist, the class sponsored a dance after the first basketball game on December 8, using as its theme, the Peppermint Lounge.

In preparation for College Night, Margaret Kindley, Juan Chaves, and Brenda Forlines study catalogues of several colleges.

Freshman Bob Pulliam tells Mrs. Beale Chandler of the school subscription drive for county newspapers as he tries to make a sale.

Faye Howerton puts the finishing touches on the school store Christmas tree.

Student Interest

New paperback books on sale in the library attract the attention of Larry Shively.

Ranged from Salesmanship to Parades

The H. C. H. S. Comet Marching Band begins the Homecoming festivities as they lead the parade through South Boston.

Freshman officers are Nancy Hagood, president; sponsor, Miss Julia Tuck; Karen Dyer, secretary; Buddy Peace, vice-president; Henry Henderson, treasurer; Gloria Shelton, reporter; and Billy Henderson, sergeant-at-arms.

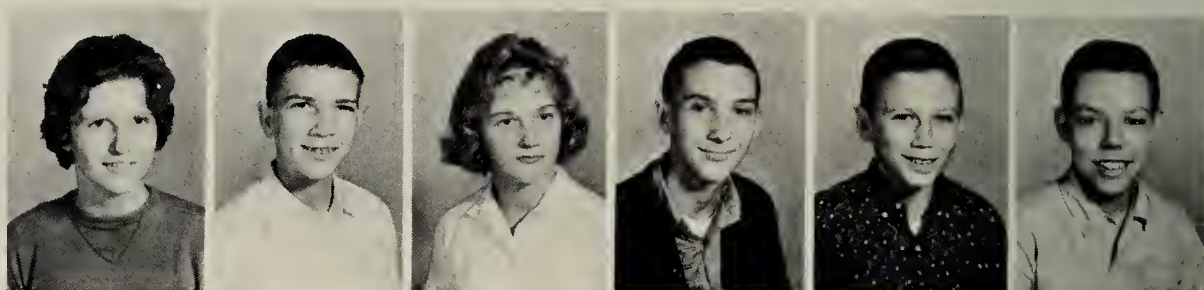

Freshmen

Because of the hope that the best Junior-Senior Prom at Halifax County High School would be credited to them in 1964, the Freshman Class began work early this year. To build up their treasury the ninth graders sponsored two dances, one after a football game and one after a basketball game.

Under the direction of Mrs. Martha Penick and Mr. Gerald Tudor the freshmen presented a take-off assembly on the songs and books written during the 1930's. The proceeds from this March assembly were added to the treasury.

As ninth graders, these students began taking a more active part in H. C. H. S. life. They joined organizations, went out for sports and took part in the dramatic productions. Also this year, many freshmen took part in the accelerated math, science, and foreign language program by taking plane geometry, biology and a second year Spanish course. Many ninth graders received the honor of membership in the Junior National Honor Society. They were also very active in the S. C. A. and served on many committees in the other student organizations.

Eighth grade officers Gilbert Portela, secretary; David Canada, sergeant-at-arms; Tommy Thompson, vice-president; Gus Mitchell, treasurer; Didi Peace, president; and Luanna Campbell, reporter; discuss the sale of cloth calendars as a money raising project. Advising them is their sponsor, Mrs. Virginia Roberts.

Eighth Grade

If planning in advance helps a class in the future, this year's eighth grade certainly got a good start. The pre-freshman class began planning far in advance for the 1965 Junior-Senior Prom when it sponsored the dance after the HCHS-William Fleming basketball game on March 3. Proceeds from this dance and from the eighth grade assembly program, done in "Sing Along with Mitch" style and presented in the spring, helped build up the class treasury.

Also this year the eighth grades sold towel calendars, a new experience for them. This also helped in raising funds for their class. The eighth grade, as the first year class at HCHS, provides an opportunity for the graduates of the nine county elementary schools to become acquainted and to begin to act as a class. In addition, this class is introduced to a higher level of learning and must make the necessary adjustments involved in progressing from elementary to secondary school. Exploratory courses offer first year students a preview of their future course of study.

Association Has Productive Year

Leading the organizations of Halifax County High School is the S. C. A. Every student becomes a member of this organization when he enters H. C. H. S., and he remains a member until he leaves. Thus, it is not only the largest of the school's clubs, but also is the one which best reflects the needs and the opinions of the student body.

The goal of the Student Co-operative Association is, as its name implies, to encourage co-operation among the students themselves and to improve relations between the students and the faculty and administration. Such co-operation improves both the atmosphere and reputation of the school. The S. C. A. reaches for this goal in many ways, as a review of its accomplishments during the past year will show.

Perhaps the most important attempt by the S. C. A. to improve the school was the honor code which it presented before the students and teachers of H. C. H. S. early in 1962. This honor code outlined a plan of action by which cheating, gambling, and stealing among the students could be stopped, or at least retarded. The S. C. A. stood solidly behind the honor code from the first proposal until the referendum in which students decided on its ratification.

Students and teachers worked together through the S. C. A. Christmas Drive to contribute great quantities of food, clothing, and toys plus over $145 for needy families of the area. The money and the goods were presented to the Halifax County Welfare Department to be distributed among those who would otherwise have had a very bleak Christmas.

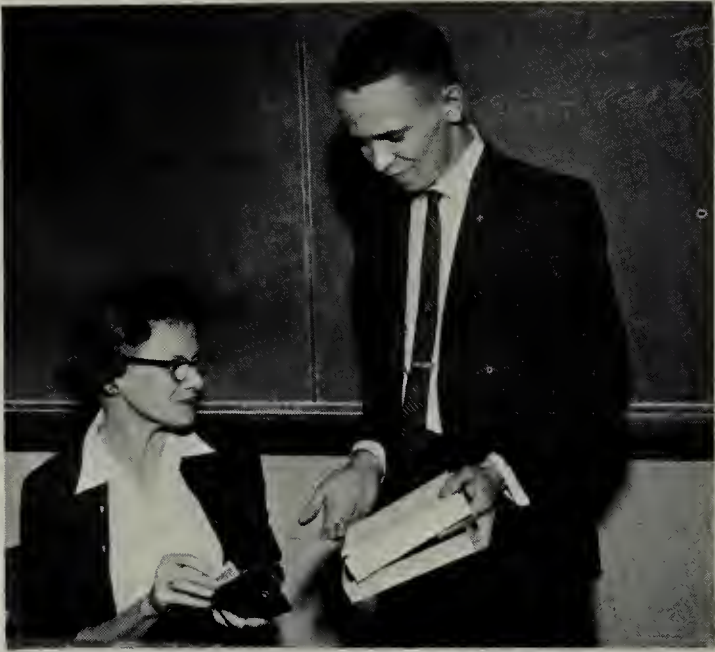

Another S. C. A. effort to improve cooperation among the students was the Presidents' Roundtable. This roundtable, which consisted of the president and other representatives of each of the schools' 21 clubs, discussed ways in which these clubs could share ideas and aid each other.

Several S. C. A. - sponsored social activities enabled members of the student body to enjoy themselves and get to know each other better. Homecoming Queen, Jo Anna Chaffin, reigned over the Homecoming Parade, in which the D. E. Club had the best float, and over the Homecoming Dance.

S. C. A. President, Bill Greenwood, delivers his "New Frontiers" speech to the Student Council.

Stationery Was Sold by Honor Society

Nat Wooding carries out the stationery selling project of the National Honor Society as Miss Mildred Henderson purchases a box of the personalized stationery.

When juniors and seniors are inducted into the National Honor Society, they have been selected because of scholarship, character, service, and leadership. Senior members were inducted by the old members in the traditional candlelighting ceremony in December, and juniors were inducted into the society in March.

The National Honor Society sold stationery this year to earn money to buy an opaque projector to be used by the English classes on the top floor. The junior members of the society served as ushers at all graduation exercises. This year's annual Honor Society picnic was held at the Halifax pool after final examinations.

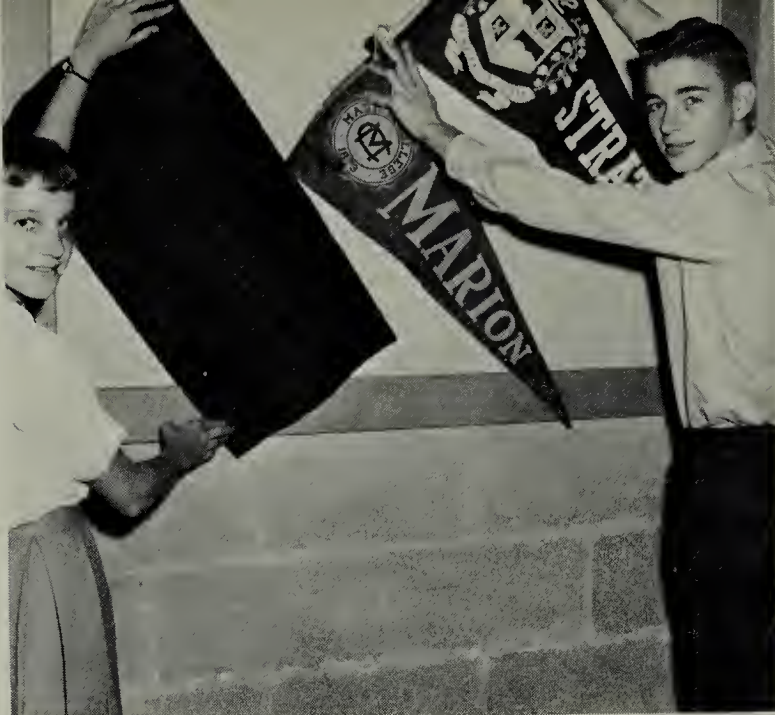

Ruth Whitefield and Wayne McCormick enjoy the food at the annual picnic given by the National Honor Society.

Old members lead the recessional at the spring induction of the National Honor Society.

Marsha Wilkins and Kenny Murray display college banners for College Night at H. C. H. S.

Tommy Jennings shows a seventh grader how the senior classes are arranged. One of the major projects of the club is to guide these seventh grade visitors on orientation day.

Junior Honor Society Ideals Are High

Members of the Junior National Honor Society are eighth, ninth, and tenth graders who have not only maintained the required scholastic average of 91, but have also excelled in leadership, character, and service.

Its members are outstanding students who willingly take part in school activities.

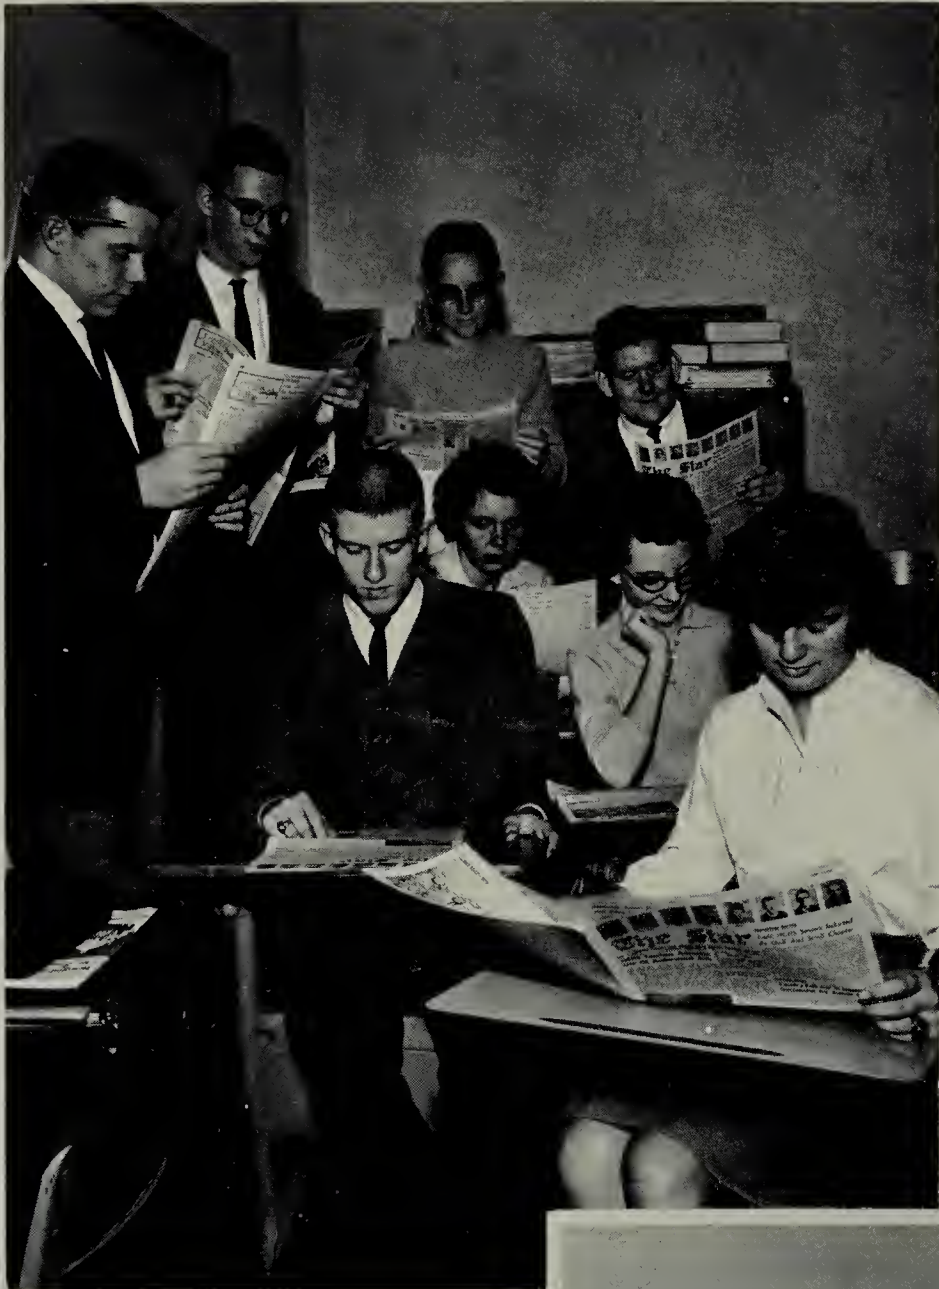

Each year they act as guides for College Day representatives and for seventh graders on Visitation Day.

This year the Junior Honor Society also sponsored a dance in the school cafeteria with Candyland as its theme.

That membership in the Quill and Scroll is the highest honor a Halifax County High School journalist can achieve is unquestionable. To be eligible, candidates must rate in the upper third of their class in general scholastic standing, must have done superior work for at least one semester in one phase of scholastic journalism, and must be recommended by the advisor of school publications, Mr. Richard J. Fitz, Jr. Only juniors and seniors are eligible for membership in this honorary organization. These outstanding journalistic students, members of the yearbook staff and the school newspaper staff, make up the membership of the Douglas Southall Freeman Chapter of Quill and Scroll.

President Jerry Dodd and secretary-treasurer Marion Weinhold hang STAR Medalist awards from C.S.P.A.

Although still a comparatively young organization, the honorary math club, Mu Alpha Theta, has done much to promote the study of mathematics at H.C.H.S. Since the granting of the club's charter by the national organization, the number of students entering higher mathematics here has doubled.

One of the main purposes of Mu Alpha Theta is to encourage students to pursue phases of mathematics that cannot be covered in the general course of study. This is provided for in the club's constitution by requiring the members to have a yearly project concerning some interesting phase of math.

As its main project this year, Mu Alpha Theta sponsored a Math Week during the week of March 26-30. They displayed in the lobby the 1961-62 projects of students in the club and interesting things made by other students in higher mathematics courses. In addition to these projects, interesting information concerning math and its uses in everyday life was also exhibited on all the school's bulletin boards.

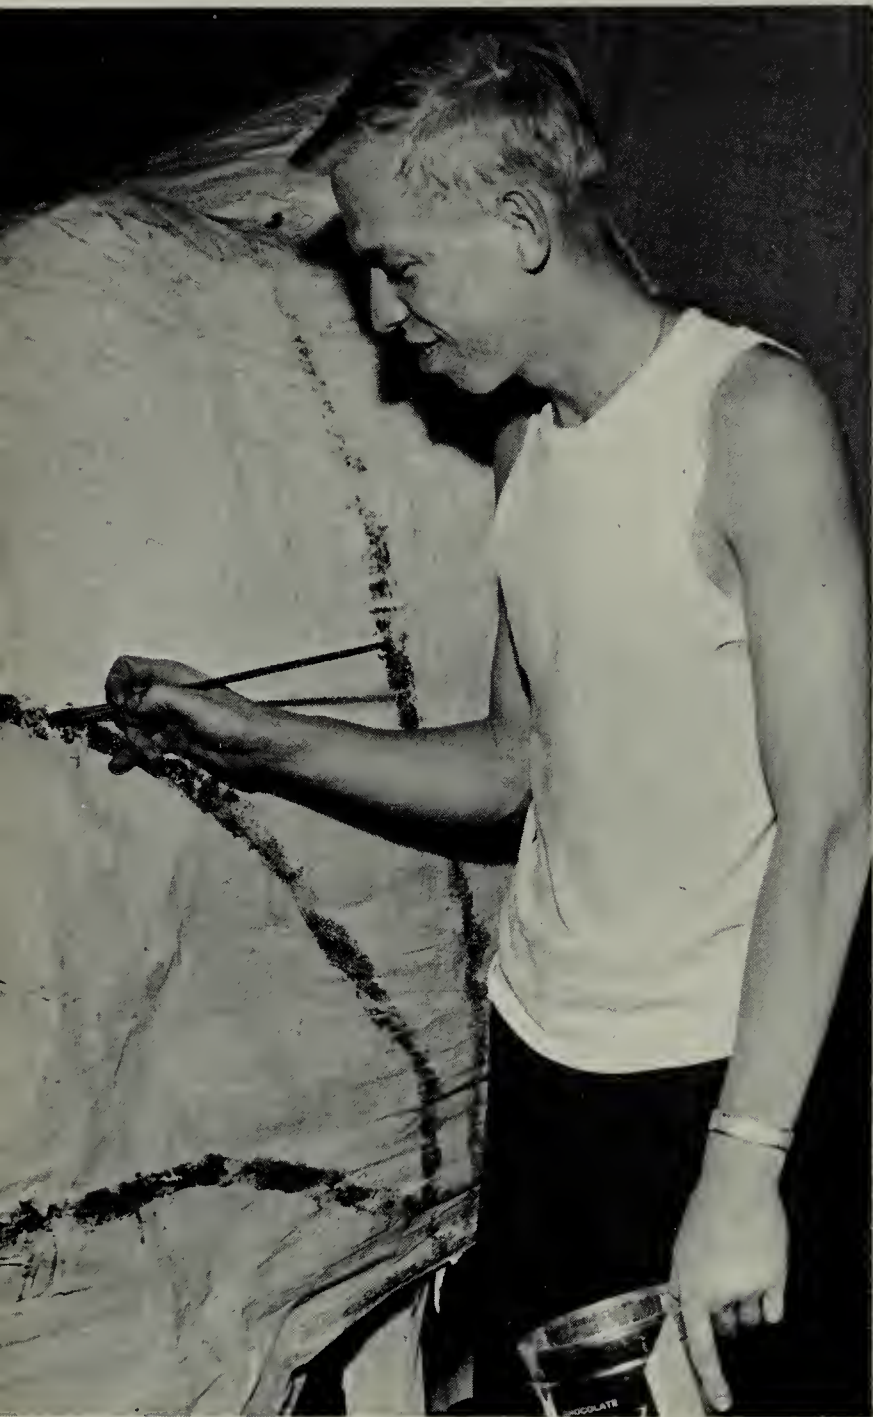

Sharon McGhee and Allen Fuller examine projects made by solid geometry students.

Thespian Troupe Supports Dramatic

Peter Sizemore puts the finishing touches on part of the scenery used in a Thespian Production.

The Thespian Troupe, 1418 is made up of the students of Halifax County High School who render their skills and services to the various school productions. The purpose of the Troupe is to increase interest and excellence in dramatic arts at Halifax County High School. The Thespian Troupe also encourages students to take a greater interest in the mastery of language, to develop self control and poise, and to appreciate dramatic writings.

Each year the outstanding members of the dramatics department who are eligible for membership are taken into the Troupe. Membership requirements are based not only on acting, but also on all other phases of play production. Besides actors, the Thespian Troupe consists of stage hands, lighting committees, prompters, scenery constructionists, costume committees, and make-up artists.

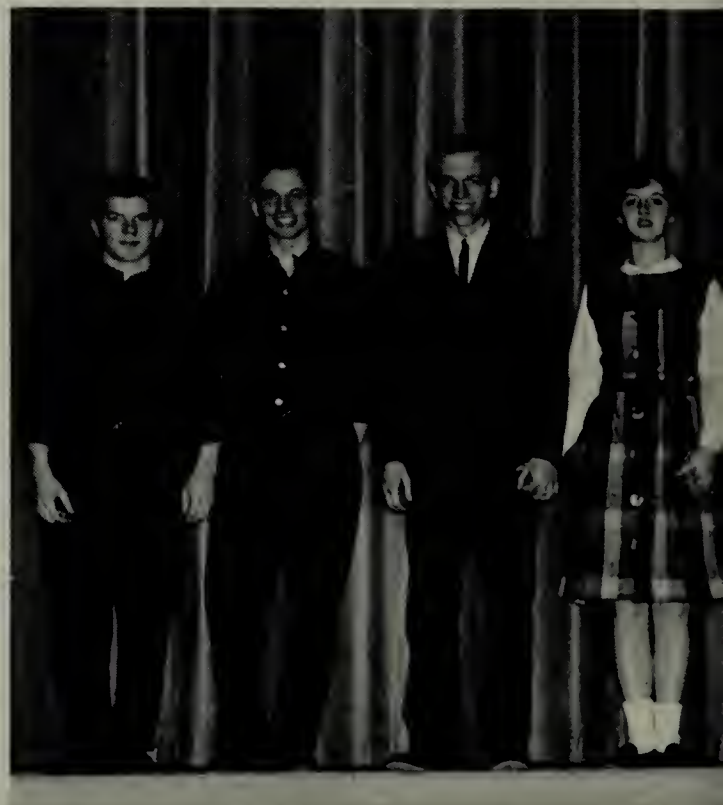

To be eligible for membership, one must obtain ten Thespian points by participating in at least two Thespian Troupe productions. A Thespian Gold Star award is presented for each extra ten points earned.

Each June during Class Day exercises, the boy and girl who contributed most to dramatics during the preceding year are awarded Thespian Cups.

This year the Thespian Troupe presented "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington as the Fall Production and entered "Seven Women" by J.M. Barrie in the district one-act play festival in March.

Patricia Patterson portrayed Lola Pratt in the fall production of "Seventeen".

Arts at H. C. H. S.

Frances Wynne, Mary Berkley Green, and Starr Lee Cook put on final makeup before showtime.

A check on the lighting for "Seventeen" is taken by Bobby Gordon, lighting director.

Follows a Year's Activities at H. C. H. S.

Halifax County High School's yearbook, the HALISCOPE, attempted to give students a complete coverage, in pictures and words, of school events in the 1961-62 school year.

Each individual student and teacher was pictured in the yearbook. A picture of each club and a summary of its activities were also featured. In the club section, the yearbook staff tried to break the routine and create interest by using a varied layout of many pictures and stories which illustrated the purposes and activities of each club. The highlights of football, basketball, baseball, and track were thoroughly covered in the sports section with pictures of the teams and summaries of their seasons.

Mr. Richard Fitz, HALISCOPE faculty advisor, selected the yearbook's editor-in-chief and his staff from a list of applications submitted to him in the previous spring. The staff selected the cover design, chose the theme, arranged the layout, and nominated the candidates for the dedication. The honoree was selected by the Senior Class and was presented the first copy of the yearbook at the Senior Class Night ceremonies.

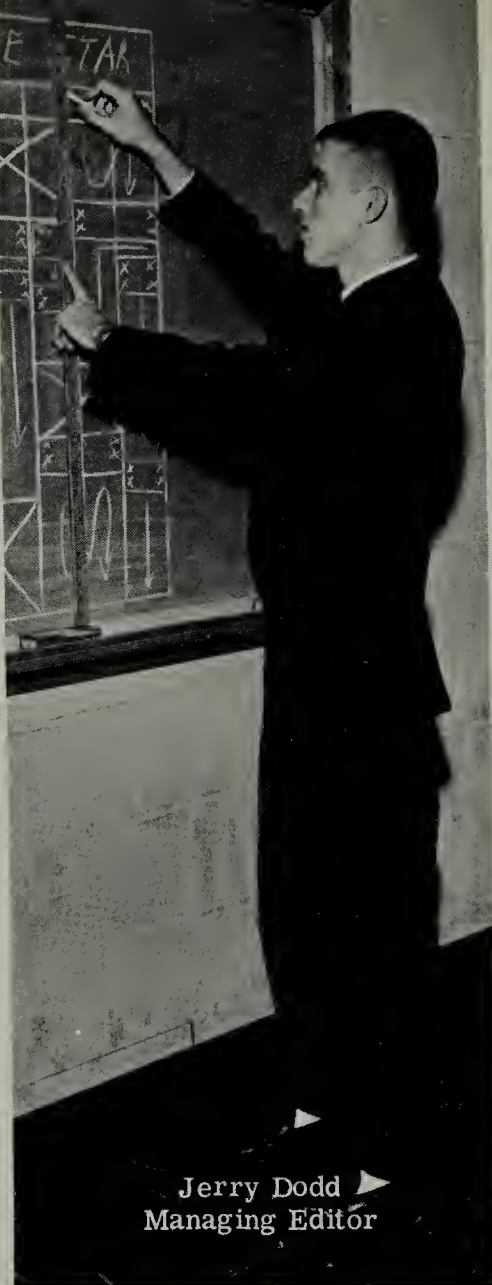

The annual staff, with the aid of English 10-J and 11-J classes, sold 775 subscriptions to the HALISCOPE this year, not quite reaching their goal of 800. The office training staff again gave the HALISCOPE staff much needed assistance with the typing of the book's copy.

Editorial Board members Linda Perkins, Phyllis Duncan, Marion Weinhold, Brenda Forlines, Carolyn Cardwell, Priscilla Comer, and Frances Wynne work on HALISCOPE materials.

The Star Highlights H. C. H. S. News

Although the STAR Staff was confronted with much snowy weather, they succeeded in publishing their annual 16 editions. Included in these editions were club news, sporting events, and other activities of H. C. H. S.

Last year's 11J class plus this year's 11J and 12J classes wrote the news articles after the faculty advisor had assigned them. Other students could express their opinions through the "Letters to the Editor" section and "H. C. H. S. Opinion," a regular poll of ideas concerning problems of the school. These two features and the "Starlighters" were regular STAR attractions.

After stories were turned in by reporters, they were proofread, corrected, and sent to the typists by the editor-in-chief, managing editor, and sports editor. Aided by Mr. Richard J. Fitz, faculty advisor, members of the staff laid out the STAR, wrote headlines and columns, and worked Thursday nights and Friday afternoons during the week before the STAR was published. One of the staff members took care of last minute details at the print shop on the Monday morning of publication.

Staff Reporters of the STAR are (SEATED) Crawford Peace, Priscilla Comer, (STANDING) Garland Ricketts, and Jimmy Chaffin.

Lettergirls and drum major are Virginia McLaughlin, Carol Bradshaw, Becca Bo McKinney, Tommy Snow, Susan Hutchinson, and Kathy Leatherman.

Senior Band

Sold Candy to Raise Money for Equipment

The Halifax County Marching Band boasted new uniforms in 1961-62. The long-awaited uniforms arrived September 21. The basic style of Confederate Cadet and the coloring of light and dark blue still remain in the uniforms.

On Saturday, October 28, the band, cheerleaders, and Mr. Jimmy Tussey, band director, journeyed to Lexington on two commercial buses furnished by the Washington and Lee University alumni. The band participated in the football game against Emory and Henry College as the home band for Washington and Lee.

The Senior Band had two highlights on its agenda for November 24. Both highlights were parades, the Danville Christmas parade at 11:00, November 24, and the South Boston Christmas parade at 3:00, the same afternoon.

The 55 members of the Senior Band raised money by selling bars of chocolate candy at 50 cents a bar. The money went to buy new equipment.

The H.C.H.S. Comet Band was one of 28 bands that were invited to participate in the seventh annual Dogwood Festival at Vinton, Virginia, on April 26-28. The all-day band festival was on Saturday, April 28. The reigning queen of the festivities was Miss Donna Ratcliff also from H.C.H.S. The band selected senior Karen Dance to be the 1961-62 H.C.H.S. Festival Princess.

The spring concert was presented on May 25 at 8:00 in the school gym.

The Comet Band's 1961-62 officers were Dean Tetterton, president; Bob Barnes, Vice-president; Patricia Patterson, secretary; Gail Seamster, treasurer; and Bobby Gordon, reporter.

Majorettes are (FRONT TO REAR) Gail Seamster; Linda Ramey; Mary T. Vaughan; Phyllis Duncan; Patricia Patterson, head majorette; Carolyn Blanks; and Becca Bo McKinney, mascot.

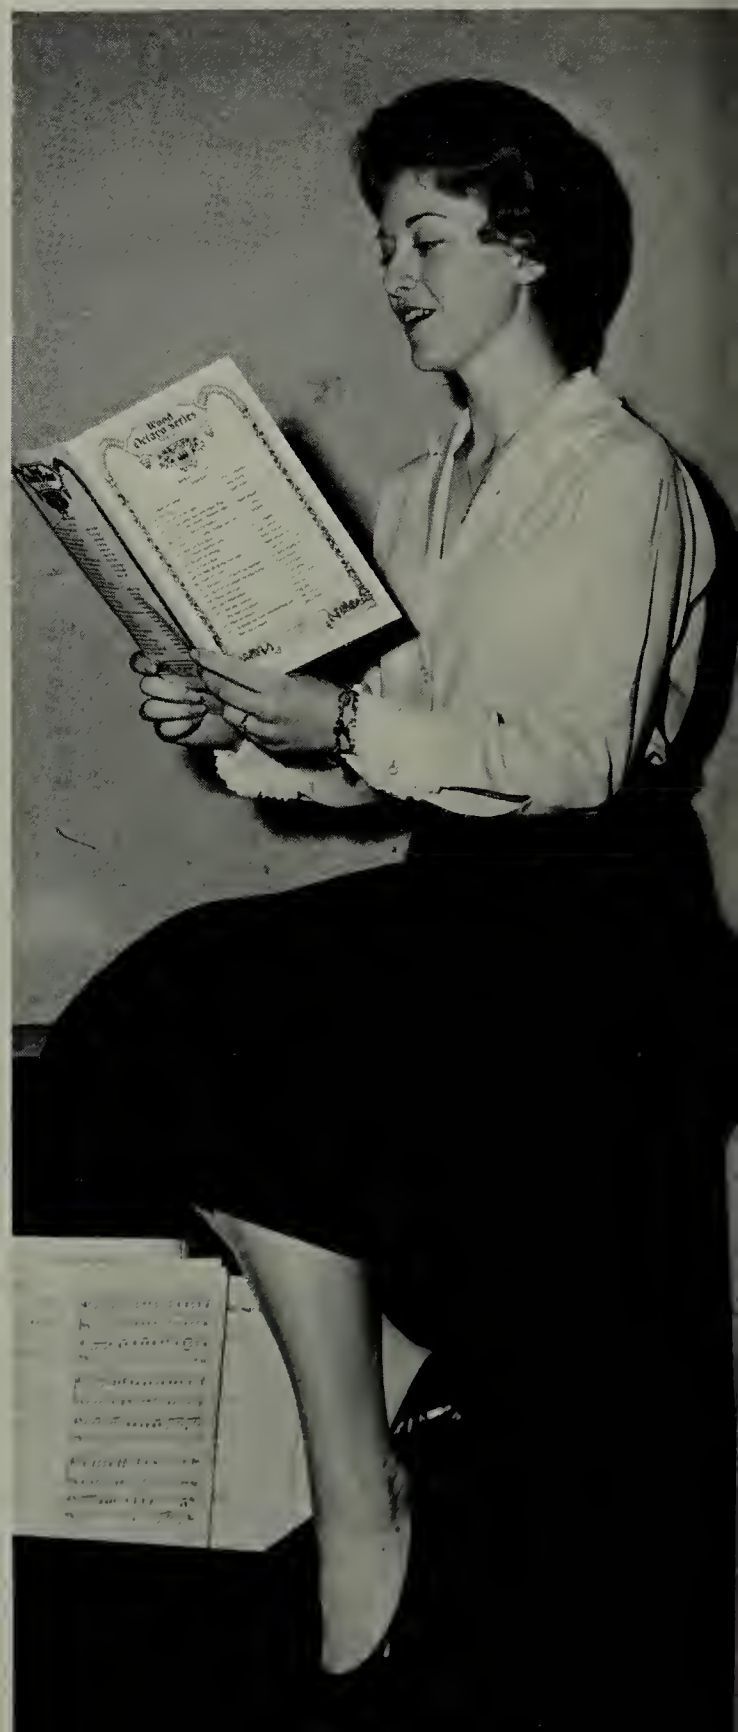

The H. C. H. S. Chorus, 1961-62

This year the choral group sent four of its members to the All-State Chorus. Beth Ramsey, David Hudson, and Rose Marie Carter practice without the fourth member, Elinor Carter, who was absent when the picture was taken.

Suzanne Kearse is the principal soloist for the choral group.

Choral Club Provided Music for Assemblies

The Choral Club is often called upon to provide small musical groups to entertain at school banquets. Mary Berkley Green accompanies just such a group composed of Wayne Stevens, David Hudson, and Joe Burton.

Highlighting the activities of the 1961-62 Concert Choir under the direction of Mr. Jimmy Tussey were concerts, performances at assembly programs and graduation exercises, and participation in the District Music Festival.

Christmas brought a Yuletide concert consisting of nine selections on Sunday, December 10, in the H. C. H. S. gym. Among the selections were a spiritual "Go Tell It On The Mountain," "The Cherubim Song," "A Virgin Unspotted," and a Robert Shaw arrangement of "Angels We Have Heard on High."

For the first time at H.C.H.S. a special assembly was given strictly for music with both the band and the Choral Club participating. It was presented for the student body on December 18.

On Saturday, March 31, the Concert Choir participated in the District Festival in the George Washington High School auditorium in Danville where they received a rating of fourth. They performed two selections, "Send Us Thy Heavenly Light" and "Ave Verum."

The choir and the band combined to present an Easter assembly, the first of its kind, on Wednesday, April 18. The best known selection was "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel.

Halifax County's Concert Choir presented its Spring Concert on Friday, May 18, in the school gym.

Library Assistants Encourage Reading

Library assistant Linda Jones checks out a book for senior Kenneth Green.

When a student assists in the library, he strives to meet the needs of students, teachers, and, to some extent, parents. He also tries to stimulate and guide students in all phases of their reading so that they may find it increasingly enjoyable and satisfactory. As for the teachers and administrations, the library assistant often solicits their aid in the selection and use of all types of library resource materials. He strives to encourage interest in library work as a career, to stimulate reading interest, to improve the library program at H. C. H. S., and to encourage a greater interest among students in the merits of the library.

The student library assistants are all volunteers who want to work in the library helping with checking books in and out of the library, collecting fines, checking students in and out of the library, checking study hall lists, and typing cards for the card catalogue. It is hoped that in the future more recognition will be given to the student assistants in the form of an academic credit.

The main innovation of the library for the year was the purchase of paper-back books.

Five Members Participate in Latin Tournament

Billy Cale and Tommy Earp work on Latin newspaper.

To promote interest, the Latin Club, which is open to all students studying Latin, observed Latin Week. The week's activities included wearing the attire of mythical characters, displaying projects in the lobby showcase, and wearing signs indicating whether the student is a servant, first-year student, or a master, a second-year student. The week is usually climaxed by a dance but this year, because of bad weather, it had to be post-poned until late in April.

Later in the year five students were chosen to represent Halifax County High School at the State Latin Tournament at George Washington High School in Danville on April 27.

Other activities of the Latin Club included a Christmas program, a picnic, and various dramatizations. The Latin Club sponsors are Mrs. Elizabeth Harding and Miss Frances Howard.

Also, the essays of Marsha Wilkins, David Dunn, Billy Cale, and Tommy Earp were selected from those of first year students and placed in the essay competition contest. This was the first inter-school competition that Latin students from this school have participated in.

Members of the Latin Club are (FIRST ROW) Mrs. Elizabeth Harding, advisor; W. Anderson; S. Carden, treasurer; J. Roark, president; M. Wall, vice-president; C. Rogers, secretary; P. Club Observes French Week with Highlighting the activities of the French Club was the observance of French Week which took place in May. Through displays in the showcase in the lobby, on the bulletin boards in the halls, and in certain classrooms, the club showed France and French customs to the student body.

The purpose of the French Club is to stimulate interest in French as a living language both to French students and to the rest of the student body.

To fulfill this purpose, several meetings were held during the year at which informative programs and speakers were presented. At a Christmas meeting, Christmas carols in French were sung by the members, a selection from the Bible was read in French, and a skit about France was presented.

Climaxing French Week in May, the annual banquet was held with menus prepared with the meal listed in French. Speeches were also made at this time.

After the banquet, club members were inducted into the National French Honor Society. Those inducted were chosen for a high average in French, aptitude, interest, application to the work, creative ability, and character.

The French Club also purchased a selection of tapes of French grammar. In class, the tapes are played and the students repeat each recorded phrase after the lecturer. Later the students take a dictation test on the phrases. The Club also owns several records which aid in pronunciation of French words.

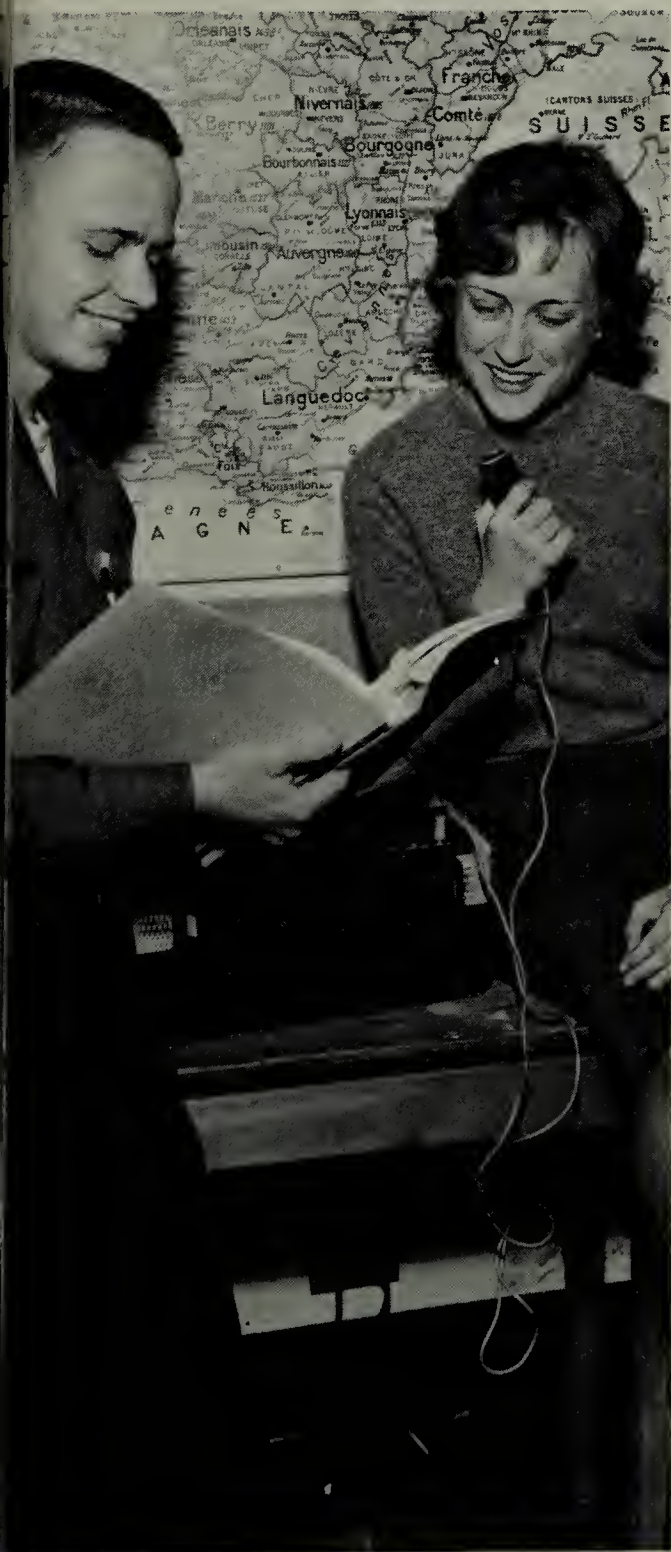

French Club members are B. Moore; Miss Frances Howard, advisor; T. Cates, vice-president; N. Wooding, president; M. Weinhold, reporter; E. Edmunds, treasurer; B. Wilborn, secretary; N. Smith, assistant reporter; (SECOND ROW) S. Harding; L. Trope; P. Irby; M. Green; F. Wynne; K. Booker; J. Bennett; D. Talley; (THIRD ROW) M. Hall; S. Tuck; J. Midkiff; J. Puryear; R. Bagwell; N. Spanish Club Float Won in Parade

To create a sense of unity and to learn more about Spanish are the main objectives of the Spanish Club. The club has about 150 members, and all students who take Spanish are eligible for membership.

The club planned and carried out many programs and socials during the year. Among the activities was a Spanish dance set in a Spanish garden and patio. New members were given membership cards and took the Spanish Club pledge at the dance.

A Nativity scene on a float won first prize and a check for $25.00 in the Christmas parade held in Halifax.

The Spanish Honor Society members were given a banquet in April. To become a member in the society, a student must have a 90 or better average for two semesters of Spanish.

Pan American Day found the Spanish Club helping to arrange a display in the lobby of the different Latin American countries and their customs.

A Spanish medal was given to the senior with the highest average during all his high school Spanish classes.

"Adelante Siempre Adelante" is the club motto and the carnation is its flower.

Nat Wooding and Robert Bagwell discuss the atom which was the theme of a national conference they attended in Chicago.

Visiting the Roanoke Rapids hydroelectric plant and the annual Science Fair were the main highlights of the Science Club.

Vepco again helped the Science Club by sending all its members to its dam and power station at Roanoke Rapids and providing a steak lunch.

For the first time in the club's history pins were made available to members to signify membership. The pins were offered in either gold or silver.

The Science Fair was participated in only by club members but attracted the attention of the entire student body and many adults in the county.

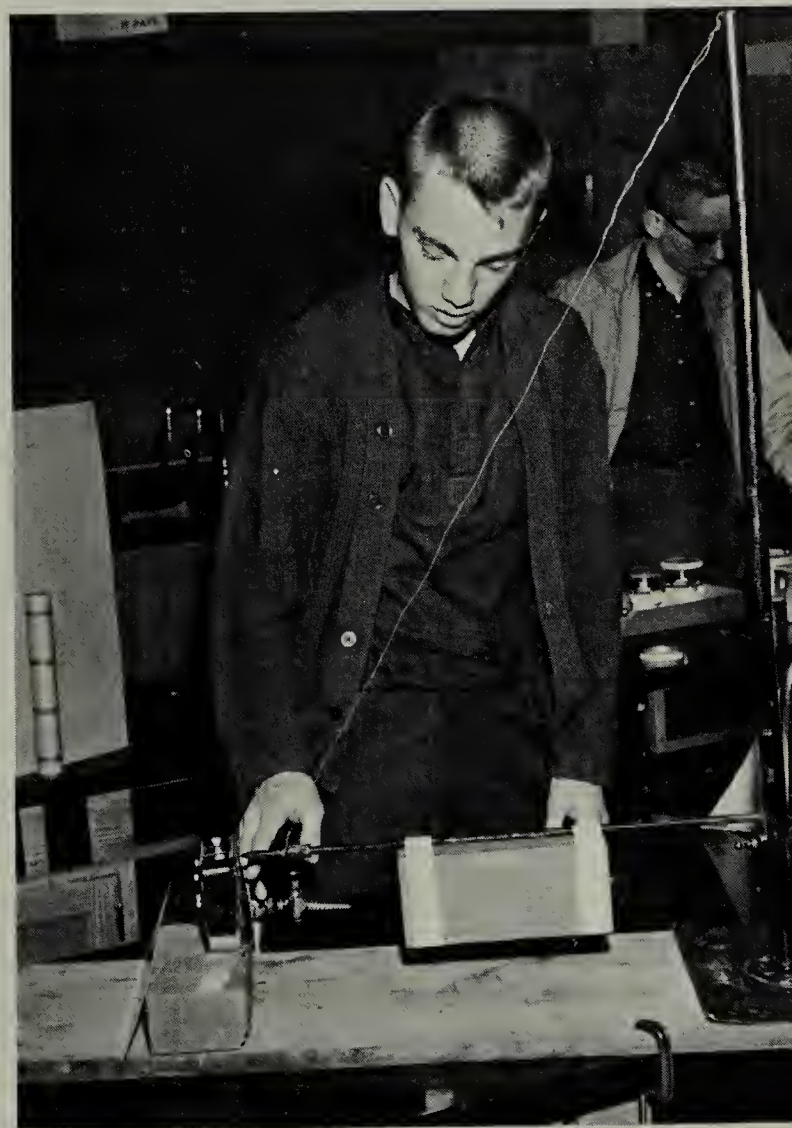

Bruce Land and Nancy Davis took top honors at the fair in physics and biology, respectively. Robert Bagwell and Robert Llewellyn took honorable mention in physics and, in biology, honorable mention went to Dianne Lantor, Billy Henderson, Sarah Jennings, Wayne Palmer, and Nat Wooding.

F. T. A. Activities

Laura Lee Trope does student teaching during F.T.A. week.

Qualifications for becoming a member of the F.T.A. include a "B" average on all courses taken each year, a genuine interest in teaching, and a yearly payment of dues. Included among other activities that took place at the meetings of the club, the members saw films and planned a trip to a nearby college. This trip gave the members an opportunity to see students like themselves learning to teach.

The climax of the yearly curriculum was Teaching Career Month in April. The future teachers put articles pertaining to teaching in the county and school newspapers, arranged bulletin boards, and gave special recognition to teachers in the high school.

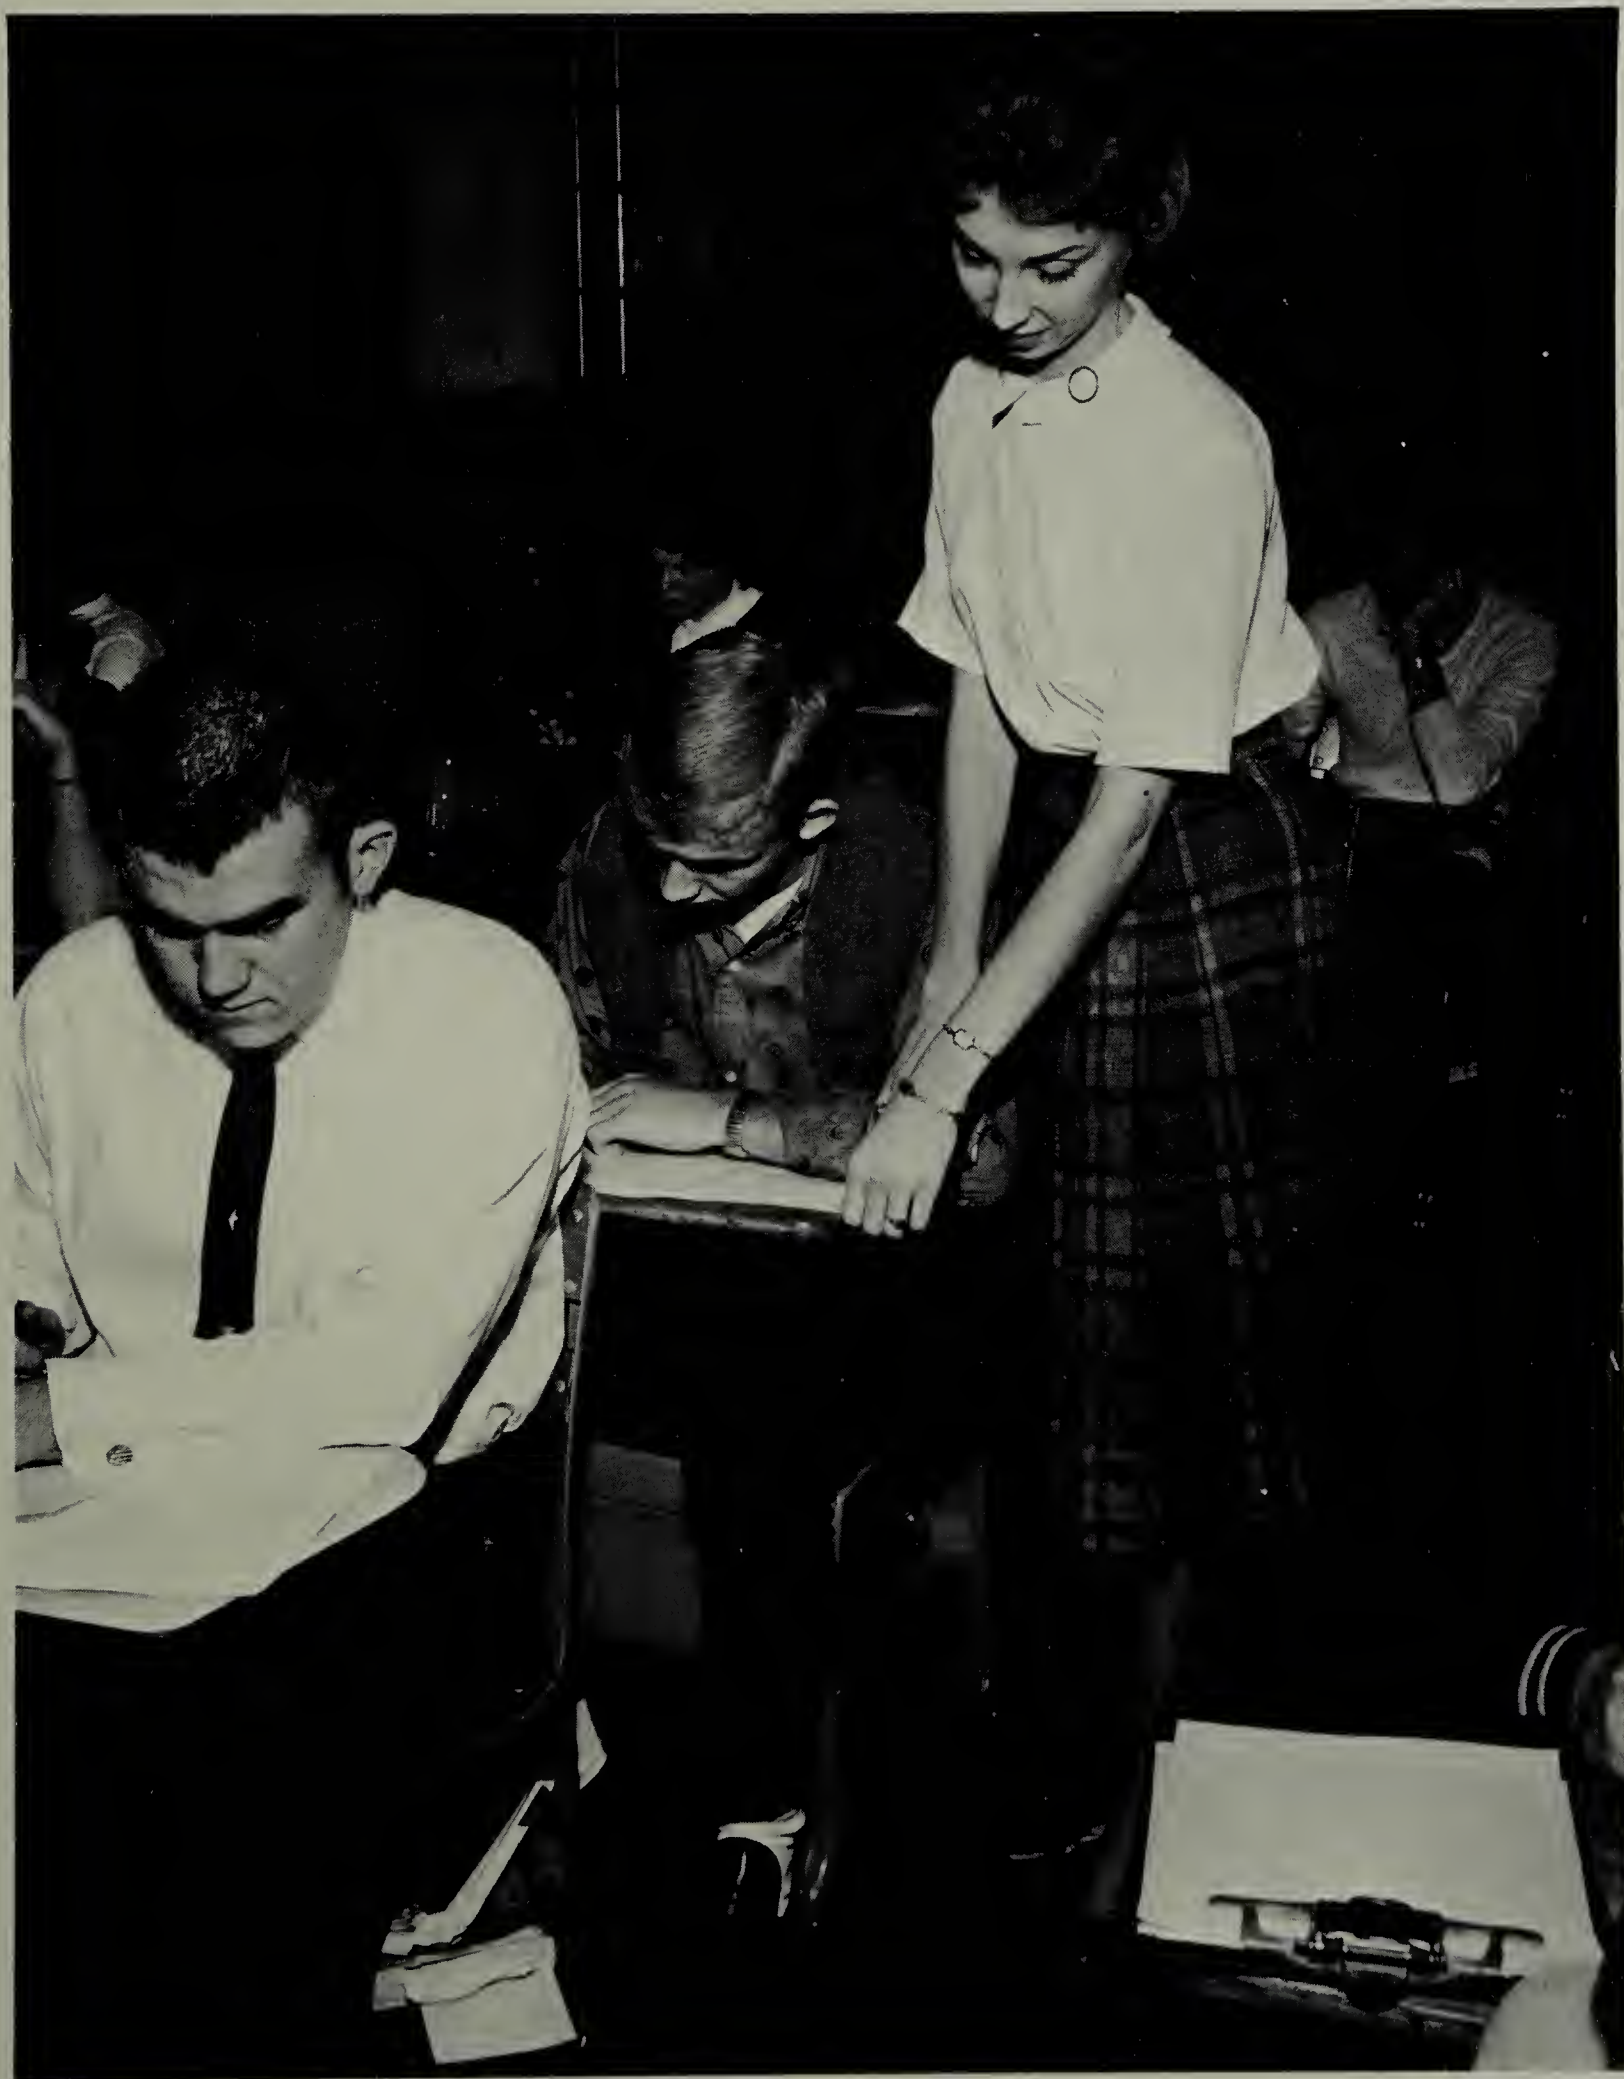

Throughout the year, the hope-to-be-teachers also taught in many of the classrooms under the guidance of the regular teachers. The members chose the subjects in which they were most interested, prepared the lesson, presented it, and questioned students on their understanding of the material.

F.T.A. members are (FIRST ROW) M. Green, reporter; F. Wynne, vice-president; N. Woltz, president; S. Clarke, secretary; L. Loftis, treasurer; B. Active F. B. L. A. Members Sold Comet Banners

Although life at H. C. H. S. was one of great confusion this September, the Future Business Leaders of America began to work early for a successful year during 1961-62. The Halifax County F. B. L. A. is organized to encourage business leadership among students. To qualify for membership, a student must be taking at least one business subject and be willing to take part in community and school activities and all financial projects of the club.

As a money-making project, the members sold blue and white Comet banners. The social highlights of the year were a Christmas party with Santa Claus and presents for all and the annual spring picnic at Stauton River State Park.

One of the most important events of the year was the F. B. L. A. regional convention at Longwood College in Farmville during March where several members took part in the public speaking, spelling, and bulletin board contests.

Jean Butler and James Elliott, members of the F. B. L. A., work on the club's scrapbook.

F. B. L. A. members Ida May Cole and Wayne Waskey, display the blue and white Comet Banners, which the members sold as a money-making project.

F. B. L. A. members are (FIRST ROW) J. Butler, vice-president; F. Arrington, reporter; I. Cole, secretary; L. Crews, treasurer; (SECOND ROW) A. Matthews; P. Francisco; M. Powers; K. Ellixson; (THIRD ROW) N. Smith; F. Hudson; F. Collins; B. Collins; (FOURTH ROW) J. Conner; N. Seamster; H. Trickey; P. Davis; B. Clawson; B. Witt. (FIFTH ROW) F. Phillips; M. Crews; P. DeJarnette; B. Since the purpose of the Distributive Education Club is to train students for full-time employment after graduation, its members are employed by local merchants. They work two class periods and after school each day as well as on Saturdays.

The students operated the school store and the lost and found department as two of their projects. This year at Homecoming, the float which the club built won first place.

The projects of the club included selling light bulbs, helping Mr. William Lowe with the adult D. E. classes, and conducting a survey of shopping conditions.

For their own enjoyment, the club members had two parties in addition to their annual Employer-Employee Banquet.

Peter Sizemore, president of the D. E. Club, accepts the trophy from Mr. Swanson for the winning float at Homecoming.

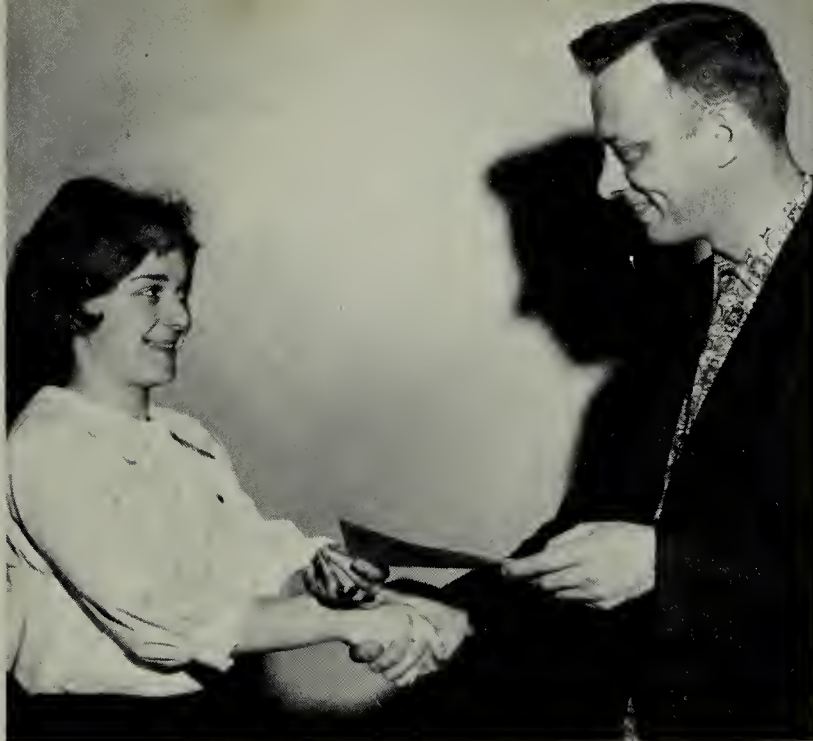

D. O. Club Wins "Outstanding Club" Award

Nancy Cole, a junior, works after school at a local nursing home. She is also D. O. state secretary, - the first time a D. O. student at H. C. H. S. has ever won a state office.

Sandra Harding receives the award for D. O. Student of the Year from Mr. Mickey Blain, D. O. advisor.

Ida Mae Cole, Harold Ray Younger, O'Neill Womack, and Nancy Cole were winners in the annual state contest.

To host the five district D. O. Clubs in district competition was one of the main events in the schedule of this year's D. O. Club. The meeting, held in February, was very prosperous as the Diversified Occupations Club received eleven first place honors out of fourteen entries, six second place, and three third place awards. The highest award given to the D. O. Club was the "District V, Most Outstanding Club Award."

The Halifax County Chapter is composed of twenty-one students, eleven boys and ten girls. Harold Younger and Donna Snead were elected district president and district secretary, respectively. Sandra Harding won the honor of being the District V D. O. Clubs of Virginia, D. O. Student of the year.

D. O. members are (FIRST ROW) N. Owen, S. Harding, I. Cole, E. Wade, N. Haley, N. Cole, R. Kell, L. Powell, B. Creasy, O. Womack, and D. Snead, (SECOND ROW) H. Younger, S. Thompson, G. Rogers, D. Jones, W. Thrower, T. Downey, J. Cliborne, W. Ferrell, R. Stevens, and C. Seamster.

Participating in activities of the school, community, and state, the 133 members of the Future Homemakers of America strive to enlarge upon their home economics training. The organization, which includes homemakers from the eighth through twelfth grades, begins its services in September and continues them into the summer.

The issuance of a handbook to each member began the 1961-62 school functions for the F.H.A. members. In October, the club entered a float in the annual homecoming parade and various girls exhibited clothes and food at the county fair. The month of February brought the annual F. H. A. - F. F. A. Valentine dance at which Carolyn Franklin reigned as queen, while in April, outstanding members were recognized at the Mother-Daughter Banquet. Throughout the school year the F. H. A. held monthly meetings and a committee composed of the club sponsor and various club members chose nine F. H. A. girls-of-the-month.

In community service, the F. H. A. Nurses' Aid helped at the local hospital three times a week. The Chapter also participated in the Charfax Federation, an organization of the F.H.A. groups of Halifax and Charlotte Counties. Jeanette Fallen, Penny Irby, and Phyllis Francisco served as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively of this federation.

Gayle Lane, F. H. A. president, calls the meeting to order.

Banquet, Dance

To honor Dads, the Future Farmers of America held the annual Father-Son Banquet on February 22, at which Mr. C. D. Ford and Mr. Jimmy Shelton were awarded the Honorary Chapter Farmer Degree. These men were selected on the basis of the help that they have given the Chapter.

At the banquet, Tommy Snow received $25 for placing first in the forestry contest. Second and third places were awarded to Eddie Medley and James Elliott, respectively.

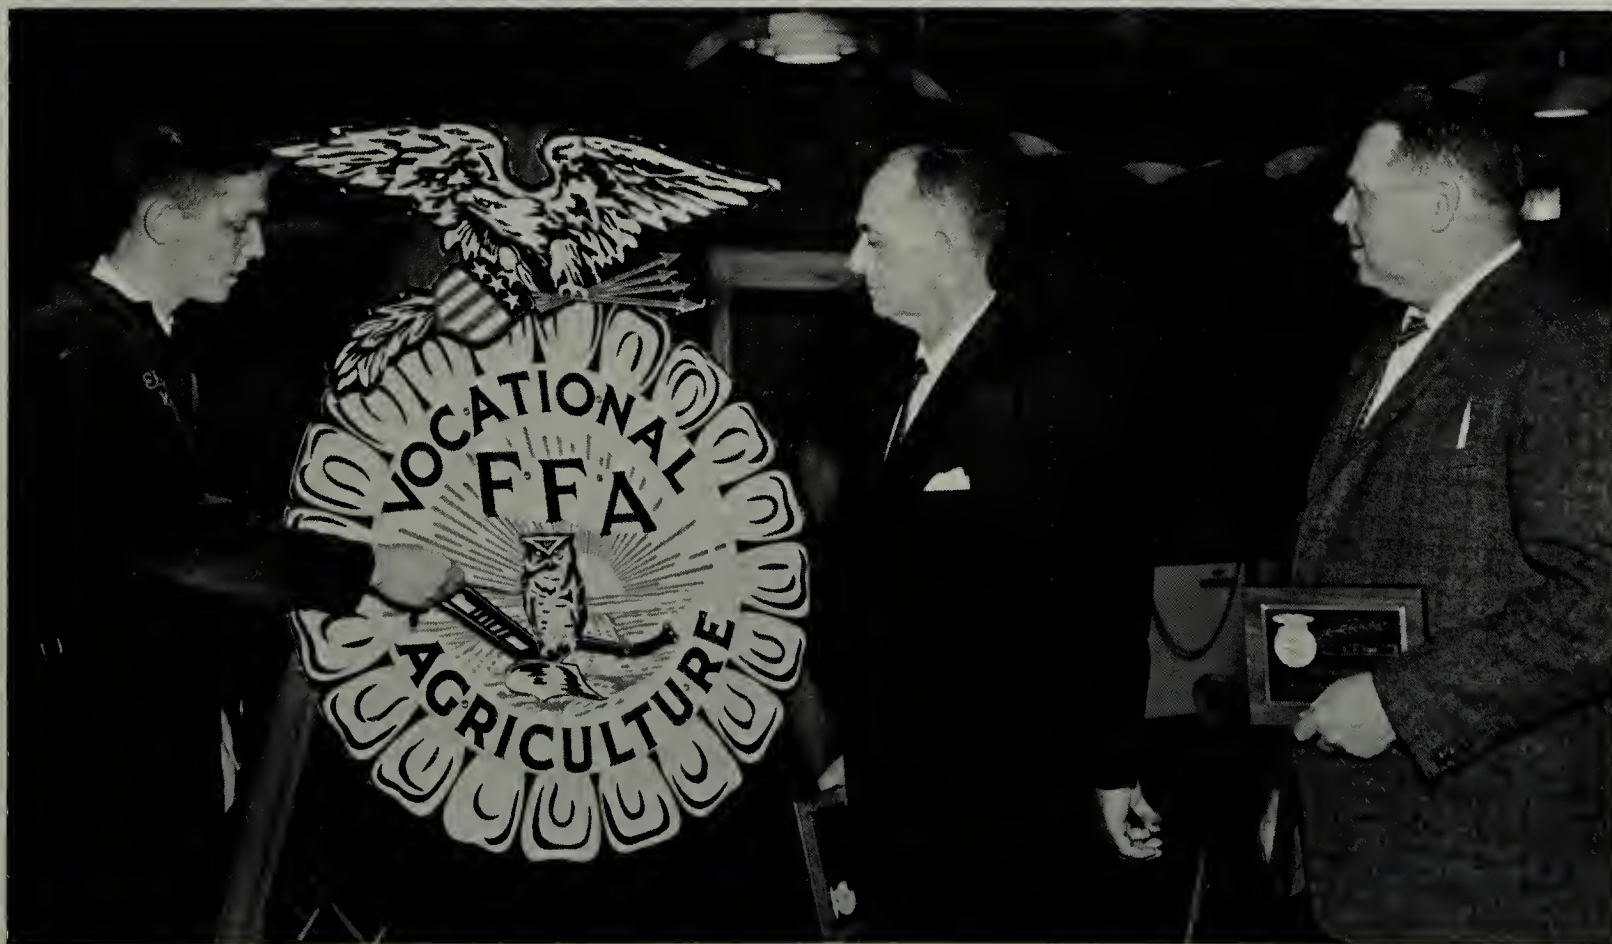

The F.F.A. placed exhibits in both the Halifax County Fair and the Lynchburg Fair. At Lynchburg, the club won a first place award.

Two representatives from the local chapter attended the national conventions. James Elliott, president of the Halifax F.F.A. Chapter, attended the National Convention in Kansas City, and Mr. J. R. Cardwell, head of the Vocational Agriculture Department, attended the annual convention of National Vocational Agriculture Teachers, as one of the official Virginia delegates.

"I think we had a highly successful season and I am very proud of the new records that were set this year," said Bob Merritt, head football coach, when asked his opinion of the 1961 football season. "Winning three Group I games in one season is a first for a Halifax County High team and I think it is due to the best teamwork we have ever had on the team."

Coach Merritt also gave another reason why this year's team compiled the school's third successive winning season. "Our four year men, Mike Cates, Tim Cates, Eddie Chappell and James Fears, and our three year men, Charles Daniels, Ronnie Keatts and Terry Lindley, certainly had a big hand in the outcome of this season's record. Our eight seniors are fine boys and fine football players. They will certainly be missed next year."

A 5-1-1 ledger was recorded by Coach Merritt's team until several key players were injured. Because of these injuries, the Comets dropped the next three games with Terry Lindley and James Fears, two star players, sitting on the bench.

Even after the injuries, the team ended this season with a 2-2 record in the Western District and a 3-2 record in Group 1-A competition.

"A small team consisting mostly of juniors and seniors, and injuries nearly turned a winning team into a losing one," exclaimed Merritt.

Many Comet Gridders Gain Game Experience

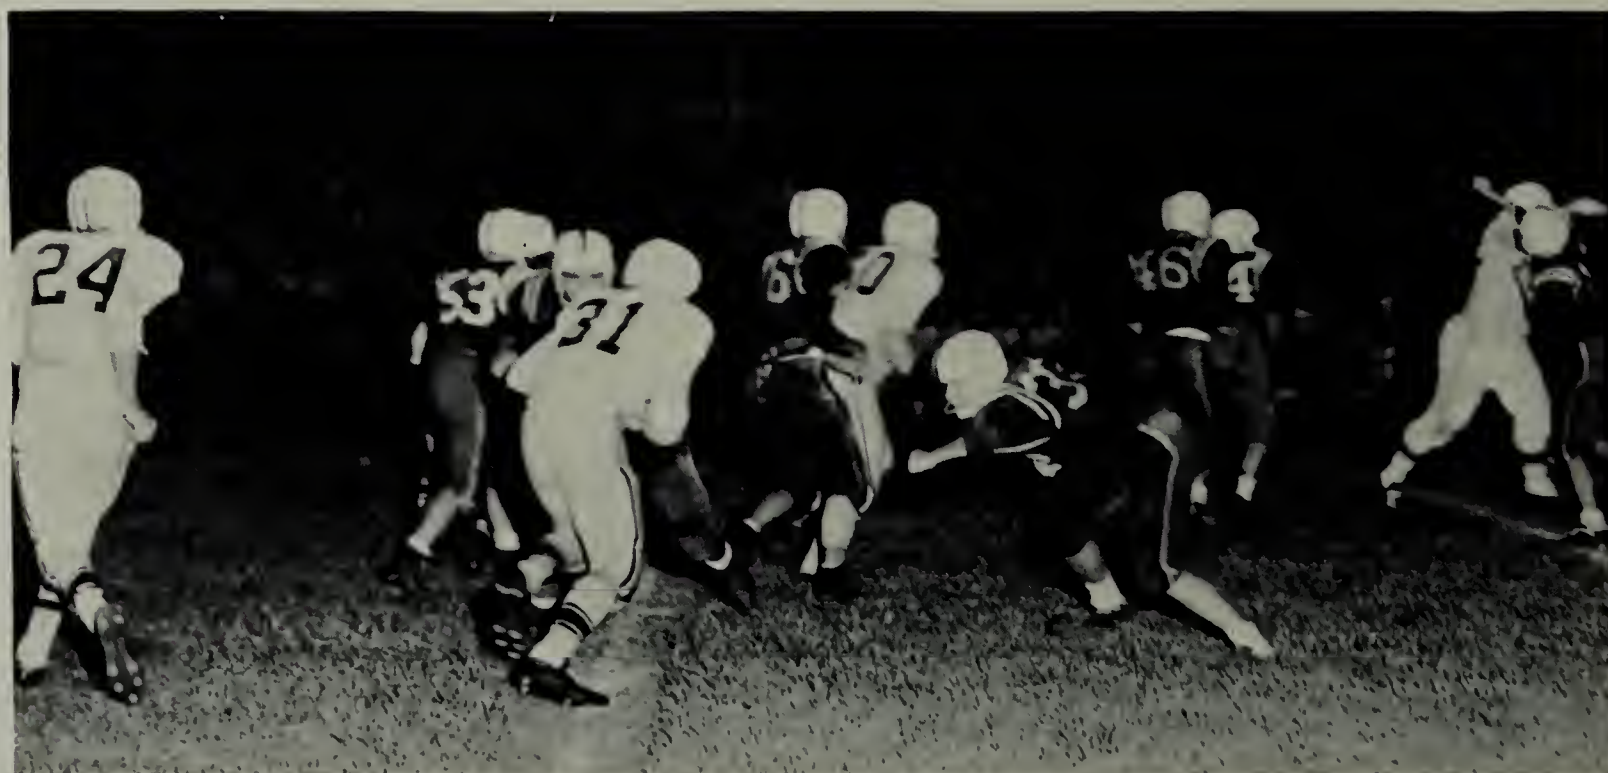

Terry Lindley picks up yardage against Lane High. Other identified Comets are Charles Daniels (21), James Fears (32), and Jim Burton (23).

Also in the Lane game quarterback Ronnie Keatts drives like a fullback for that extra yard.

In the first game of the season, Comet footballers mix-up game strategy to pull out a 7-7 tie with Bassett.

Mr. Fred Cone, ex-Green Bay Packers football star, tells a football story to next year's football captains, Ray Kilgore and Morty Miller.

Capacity Crowd Hears Cone at Banquet

A capacity crowd jammed into Halifax County High School cafeteria May 15, to honor all athletes of the school and to hear guest speaker Mr. Fred Cone, deliver a repertoire of light stories and words of wisdom.

In all, 160 awards, most of them monograms for varsity and junior varsity sports participation, were awarded during the program following the banquet.

Chief recruiter and assistant coach at Clemson College, Mr. Cone was a hit with his audience with his string of witty stories. He warmed up his listeners by explaining that he was from Pineapple, Ala., which is located "two wagon greasings south of Montgomery."

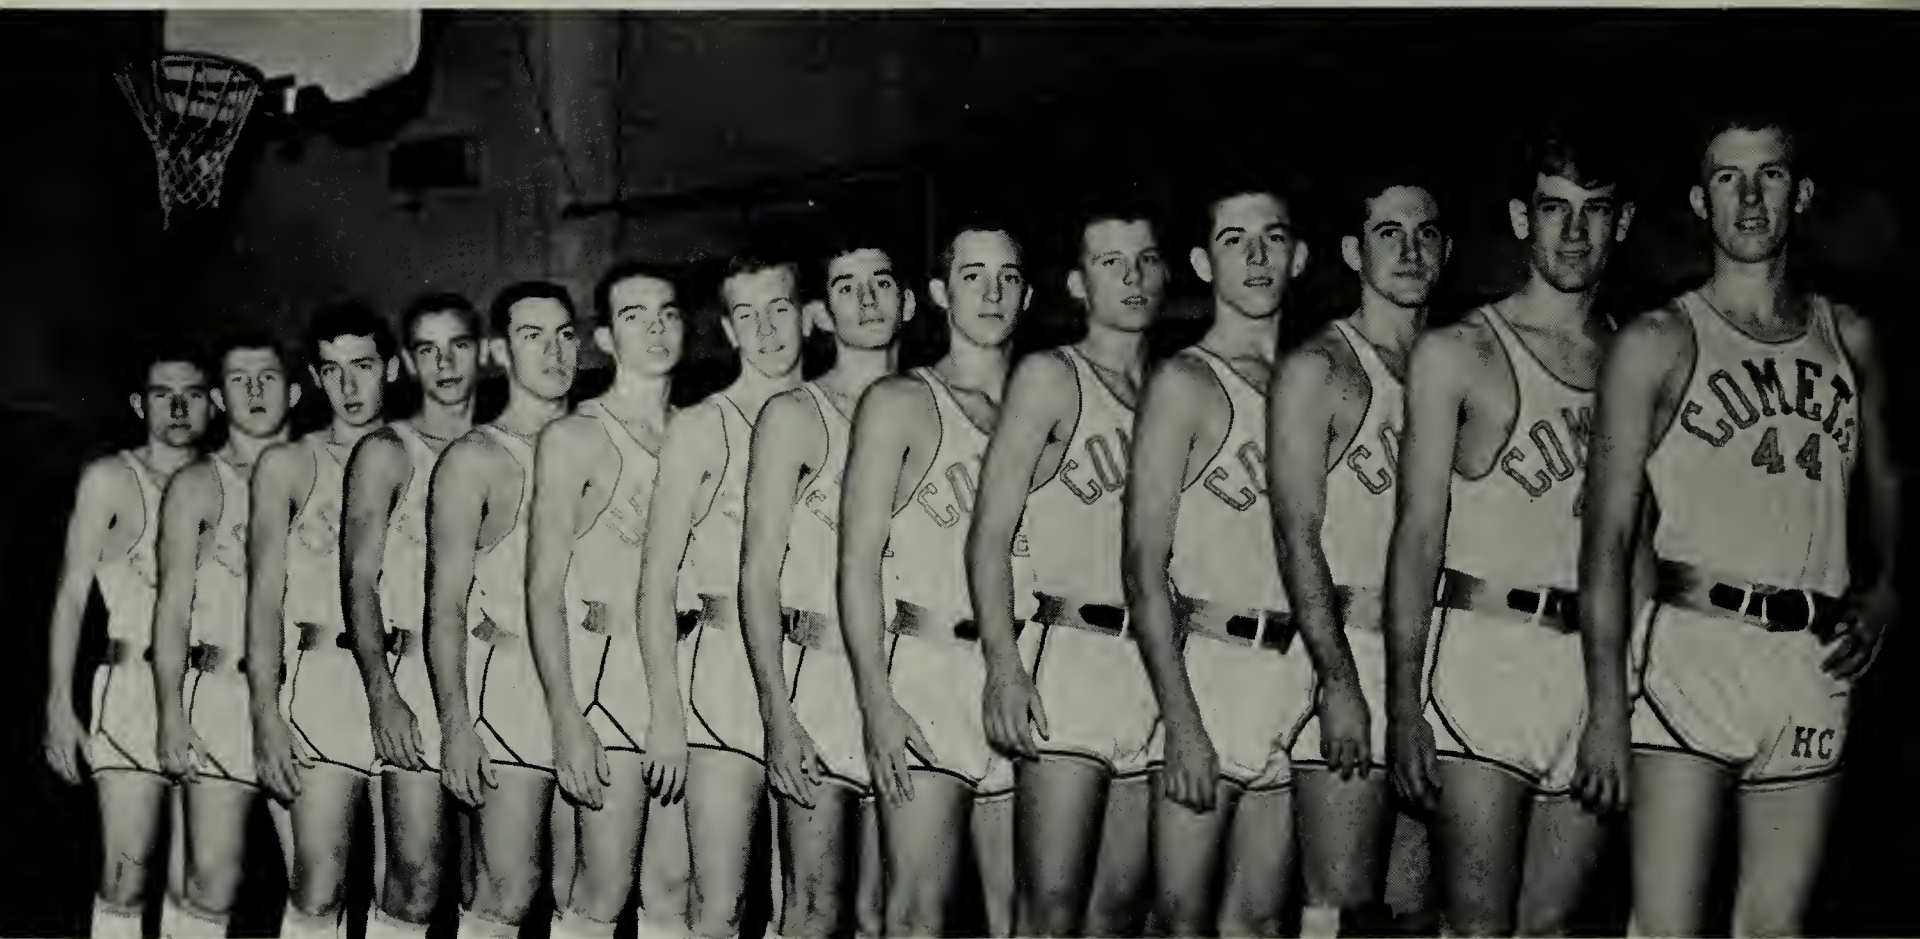

His talk had its serious side, however. He advised high school boys and girls to pay attention to their studies so that they will be able to get into college when the time comes. He stressed, too, the values to be gained from competitive play, and urged people to take time to do the worthwhile things in life rather than rush about with no goal in mind.

Booster Club president E. T. Smith presided at the annual banquet, attended by some 350 persons, just about the limit of seating in the cafeteria.

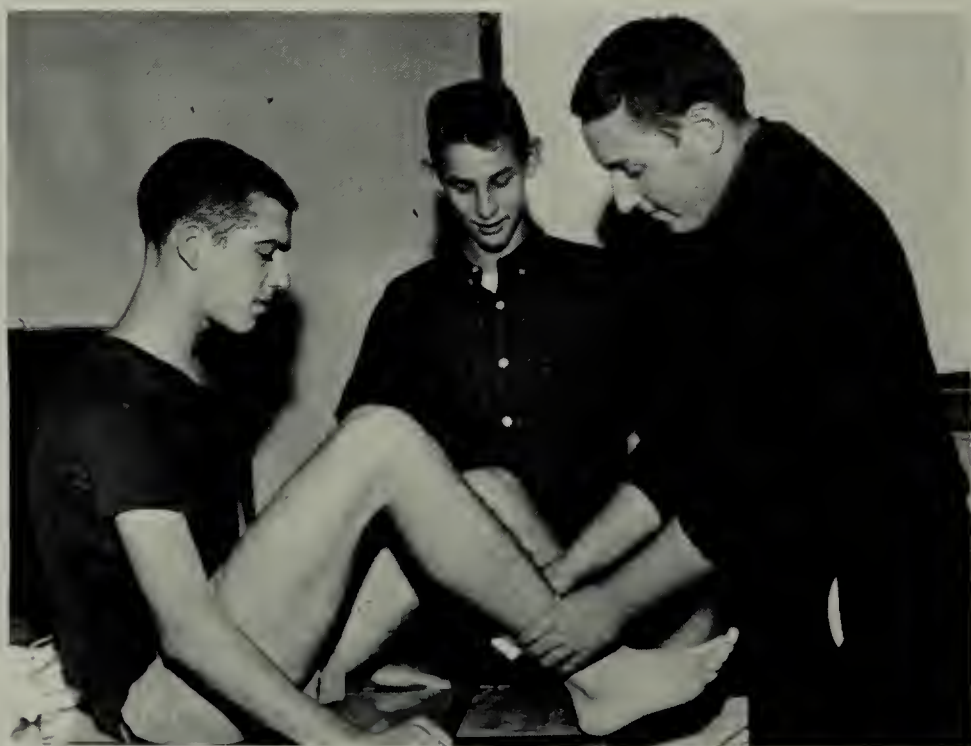

Coach, Bob Merritt, awards James "Big Daddy" Fears, a trophy for the best blocker at the annual All-Sports Banquet. Mike Cates looks on.

Ronnie Keatts and Mike Cates
Comet Co-captains

The Comets found themselves short handed the week when seniors were suspended from the team.

Underclassmen Gained Experience This Year

With one thing after another upsetting them through the season, the Comet basketball team posted a 1-17 overall record. Actually the season was a little more successful than the record indicated. The Comets lost four of their ball games by one point, and several others by only slightly larger margins.

It was the second game of the season that seemed to dictate the final record. In a thrilling game on the homecourt, the Blues had managed to stay slightly ahead of newly formed Patrick Henry of Roanoke. However, with time running out, the Patriots grabbed the lead and went on to win by one point. From this game on, the Comets seemed doomed, even in their best efforts, as they went on to drop all of their remaining games. Their only win came in the season opener with Franklin County High School.

Another thing that hurt the Comets' chances for success was a misunderstanding which developed between Coach Hank Hamrick and the senior members on the team. During part of the season the Halifax team played without the services of these upperclassmen, but gradually the rift improved and the seniors got back into some of the action.

This year Coach Hamrick carried several sophomores on the varsity. Many of these boys showed a great deal of desire and ability during the past season and will probably improve greatly by next year.

Cagers winning letters were Tim Cates, Allen Goodman, Buddy Peace, Ray Kilgore, Tommy Elliott, Charles Daniel, Mike Cates, Frank Booker, Charles Spears, Jim Marilla, Ricky Harrell, Aubrey Duffer, Charles Payne, Ronnie Keatts, Crawford Peace, Kenny Morningstar, Jim Chaffin, and Morty Miller.

Charles Daniels fights for a rebound during the George Washington game as Crawford Peace is ready for assistance.

Comets Lost Four Games by 1-Point Margin

Mike Cates pulls down a rebound in the Andrew Lewis game.

Jim Marilla takes a long jump shot over a tall Reidsville defensive player as Ricky Harrell follows up the shot.

After Winning Opener, Blues Dropped

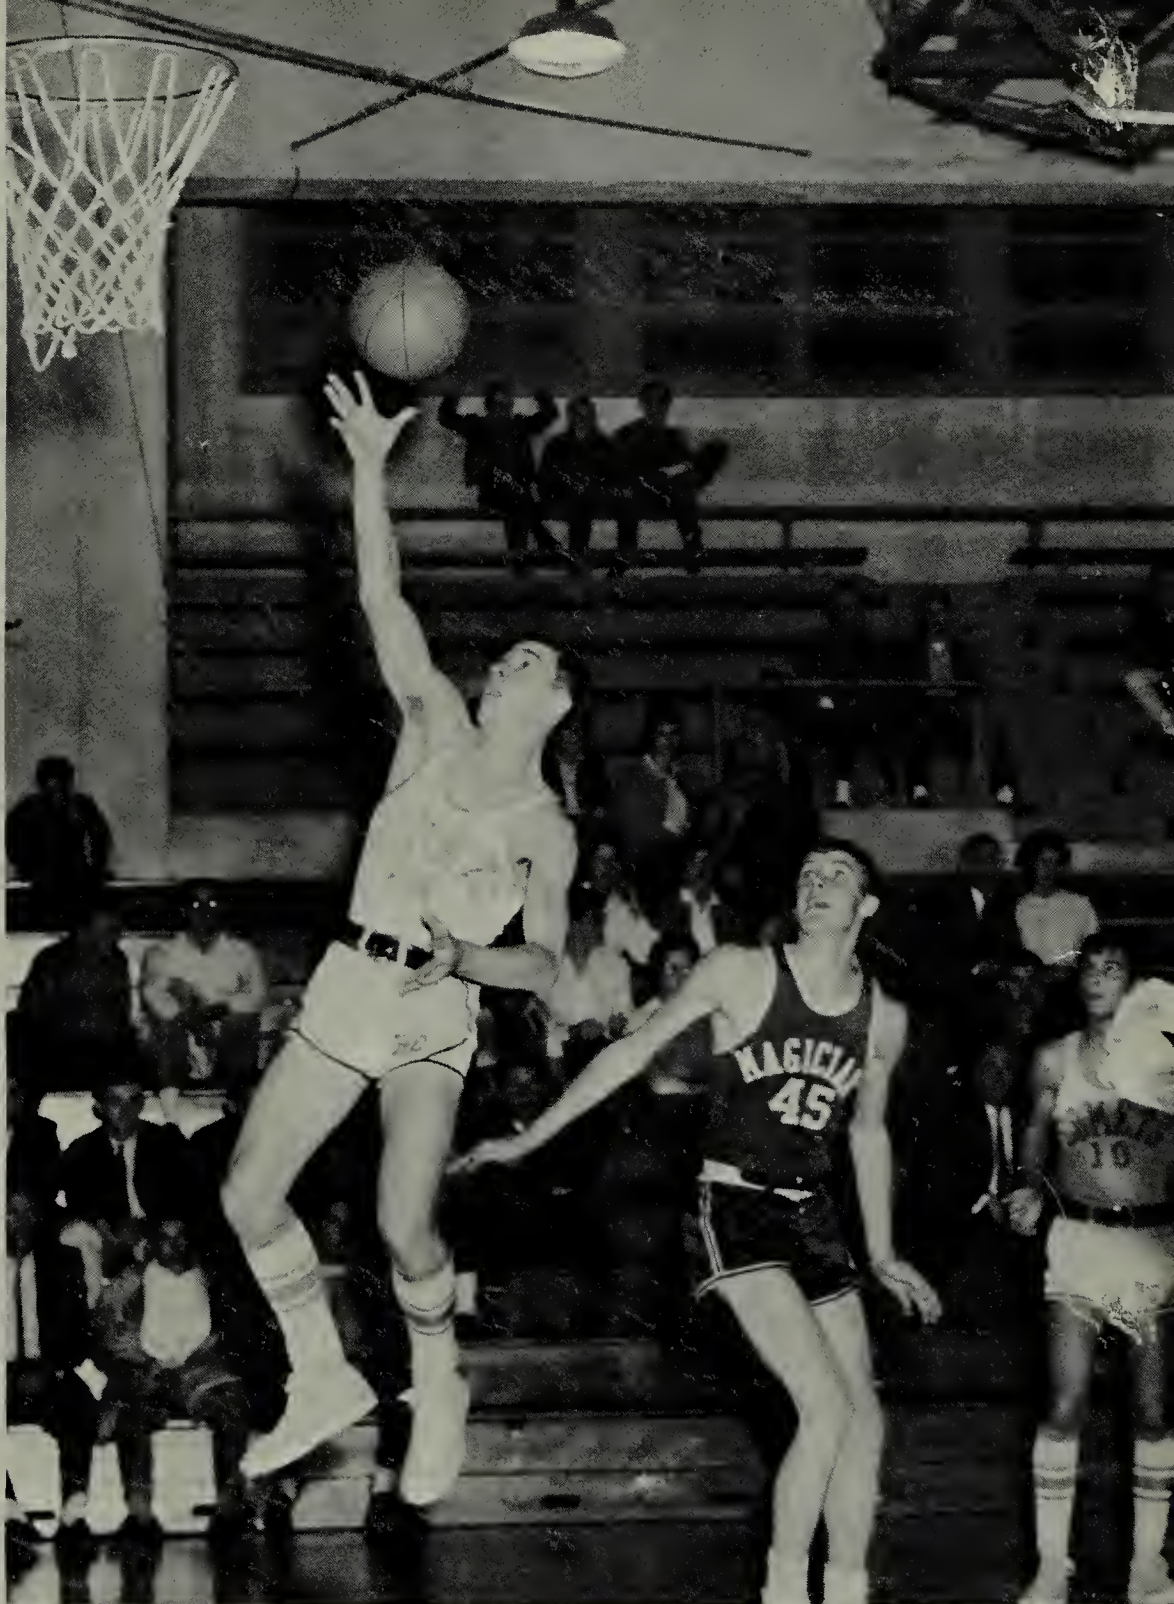

In the Patrick Henry game, a loose ball found Jimmy Chaffin, Crawford Peace, Aubrey Duffer and an unidentified Comet player struggling with Patrick Henry players for possession of the ball.

Charles Daniels goes up for two points in the Patrick Henry game.

Cheerleaders Helped Stir School Spirit

Varsity cheerleaders put in many long hours for the football and basketball games this year. They sold Comet ribbons to help pay for their expenses and also sold season tickets to support the team. Decorating the goalposts before each home football game and urging the teams on with rousing cheers and songs were only part of their contributions to school spirit.

Before each game, the cheerleaders displayed banners and posters to advertise the games and devised stunts to make each game unique and original. On the days of home games, the cheerleaders wore their uniforms to school to further publicize the event.

Cheerleaders are chosen in the spring to allow enough time to prepare for the next year. They are selected by a student-faculty committee on the basis of personal appearance, co-ordination, voice and character. The girls must maintain a "C" average.

Joanna Chaffin
Head Cheerleader

The varsity cheerleaders are (first row) Nancy Woltz, Bruce Wilborn, Eva Gray Pulliam, Em Edmunds, Elinor Carter, (second row) Linda Loftis, Vicky Dyer, Nell Lacy, Joanna Chaffin, Katty DeJarnette, and Gayle Harmon.

Spirited J. V. Squad Sparked Baby Blues

A very important part of the junior varsity football and basketball squads is the junior varsity cheerleaders. These girls were on hand at almost every game to add to the pep of the crowd. They aided the varsity cheerleaders by adding their spontaneous cheering at the varsity games.

Witty songs which pleased the crowds that came to see the J. V. games were originated by these girls from the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades. They participated in the pep rallies and kept the students well informed on coming games. Their spirited cheers sparked the Baby Blue to many victories.

In the spring the J. V. cheerleaders are chosen by the varsity cheerleaders and their sponsors. They are judged on their jump, voice quality, appearance, motions, and attitude.

Ninth Graduating Class Numbers 246

Commencement Exercises for 246 members of the Class of 1962 was June 6, in the school gym.

The Commencement Address, "Hope in an Age of Despair," was delivered by Dr. Orville Wake, president of Lynchburg College.

Following the processional and invocation by Reverend Frank G. Sawyer, pastor of Halifax Presbyterian Church, a selection was played by the concert band under the direction of Mr. Jimmy Tussey.

Mr. Rhoderick L. Lacy, division superintendent of Halifax County Public Schools, introduced Dr. Wake.

After his address, the Concert Choir sang two selections followed by the presentation of diplomas by Principal J. Marshall Swanson.

The Reverend Morris E. Campbell, minister of the Catawba Baptist Church, gave the benediction and the program concluded with the recessional of the graduates.

The third row of graduates returns to their seats after receiving their diplomas.
